INFLUENCES ON THE PAPER MONEY OF FINLAND

by VICTOR C. SEIBERT A-32790

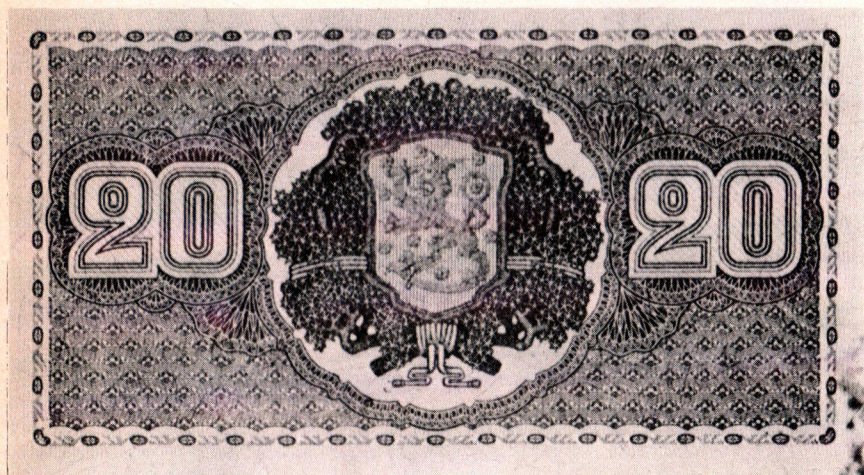

External cultures and powers as well as internal struggles and activities have influenced the legends, images, and designs on the paper money of Finland more than other nations' paper money. Its bank notes are not adorned with mythological characters, intricate designs, or images of national characters (until 1955). Rather, the legends and images of Finnish notes reflect the influences left by the world powers that from time to time absorbed this strategically located nation; the national struggles, and even important industries.

Finland, although only about the size of Montana, has been the victim of centuries of struggles between two great world powers--Sweden and Russia. Since it is located between these warring nations, its progress was hampered, its realization of independence delayed, and its culture mixed with that of its captors. Sweden was intensely interested in Finland because it wanted to spread the Lutheran religion to its neighbors, was anxious to protect its fisheries against the roving bands of Finns, and desired to add the Finnish forests to its reserve. The Finns, in turn, were looking to Sweden for protection against Novgorod and for aid to unify into a nation of its own. So in 1323 Sweden was able to defeat Novgorod and Finland was made a Swedish Grand Duchy. Sweden was Finland's master from 1323 until 1809. During these five centuries the Finnish way of life became Swedish in character, governmental agencies, educational institutions, religious organizations, and industrial companies. So strong was this Swedish influence that, although almost two hundred years have passed since the Swedish rule ended, the legend on most of the paper money of Finland is in part Swedish. Finland, although only about the size of Montana, has been the victim of centuries of struggles between two great world powers--Sweden and Russia. Since it is located between these warring nations, its progress was hampered, its realization of independence delayed, and its culture mixed with that of its captors. Sweden was intensely interested in Finland because it wanted to spread the Lutheran religion to its neighbors, was anxious to protect its fisheries against the roving bands of Finns, and desired to add the Finnish forests to its reserve. The Finns, in turn, were looking to Sweden for protection against Novgorod and for aid to unify into a nation of its own. So in 1323 Sweden was able to defeat Novgorod and Finland was made a Swedish Grand Duchy. Sweden was Finland's master from 1323 until 1809. During these five centuries the Finnish way of life became Swedish in character, governmental agencies, educational institutions, religious organizations, and industrial companies. So strong was this Swedish influence that, although almost two hundred years have passed since the Swedish rule ended, the legend on most of the paper money of Finland is in part Swedish. The 20 mark note pictured illustrates this fact. It will be noted that this note is dated 1945. Finland remained a Grand Duchy of Sweden until the 19th century.

Russia's interest in Finland dates back to the time of Peter the Great. Russia needed a seaport of its own if it was to become an international trader. True, Russia did have Archangel in the North. However, since that harbor is frozen over six months of the year, it was not satisfactory. Vladivostok was thousands of miles away across Siberia which would not be developed for centuries.

The southern ports along the Sea of Azov were in the hands of the Turks. So Russia turned its attention to the land of the Finns for a port and war was the only way to gain that goal. The war between Sweden and Russia continued for many years but in 1809 Russia emerged the victor. As a part of the Treaty of Nystad, Finland was made an autonomous Grand Duchy of the Russian Czar.

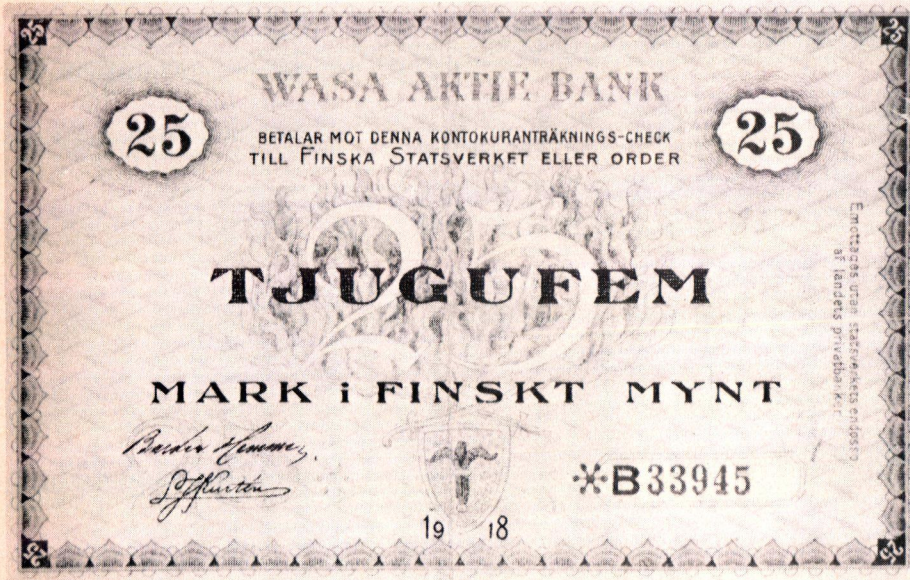

As a natural consequence of this victory, Russian migrants entered the newly won territory, bringing with them

Since 1955, Finland has printed on three notes the images of three Finns that had tremendous effects upon the development of the independent Finland. The 500 markkaa note of 1955 shows the image of Juho Kusti Paasikivi, who served as president of the Republic of Finland from 1946 to 1956, the 5000 markkaa note of 1955 pays honor to Kaarlo Juho Stahlberg, who served as president of the Republic from 1919 to 1925. The 10,000 markkaa note of 1955 shows the image of Johan Vilhelm Snellman, the great Finnish philosopher and statesman.

Since almost three-fourths of the land area of Finland are forest covered, it is only natural that the trees would be honored on the Republic's paper money. The 5 markkaa note dated 1922 shows the spruce and the 10 markkaa note of the same date shows the pine.

Although farms in Finland average only about 12 acres in size, agriculture ranks with forestry as the principal industries of that nation. Grain and cattle are the chief farm products and both are honored on the paper money of Finland. On the obverse of the 100 markkaa note dated 1957 appear 10 head of wheat and on the reverse of the 10 markkaa note dated 1909 (issued from 1916 to 1918) appears a small farm scene with two head of cattle in the foreground.

The sea — for shipping and fishing — is also important to the Finns' welfare and sea-related industries are presented on the notes of Finland. On the reverse of the 50 markkaa note dated 1909 appears a lighthouse and on the 5 markkaa note dated 1909 is shown a fisherman plying his trade in one of the thousands of inlets of Finland.

The first paper money issued in Finland dates back to 1811 when Finnish banks issued paper money that was not only hand signed but also hand dated and hand serially numbered. They were issued by the bank at Abo (Turku). In 1819 similar notes were issued by the bank at Helsingfors. Issues were made by loan banks about 1822. From 1840 the issues have been made by the Bank of Finland (Suomen Pankki). This bank has been a state bank since its inception and has been guaranteed and supervised by the Diet since 1868. Finland acquired its own monetary system in 1868.

A study of the legends and images on the notes of Finland reflect its complicated history, its geographical features, its industries, its natural resources and its leaders.

Every two years the ANA elects a new Board of Governors including a president and vice president. When you receive this issue of The Numismatist, you will know who the new elected officers of our association are. They will carry on the work of the ANA for the next two years, in accordance with our federal charter which states in Section 5 "the control of the ANA shall be vested in a body of not less than five governors to be elected by the members." I urge you to make sure that your duly elected officers represent you. Let them know how you feel about the ANA and its activities by writing to them or talking with them personally at local, state, regional and national numismatic meetings. Remember, your elected officers were not drafted; they volunteered for the privilege of serving you.

The ANA's 5th annual summer seminar, held in Colorado Springs July 8-15th, was an outstanding success. 125 collectors and dealers participated, including eight junior collectors who had received scholarships to help defray their expenses. (Nearly 100 would-be participants had to cancel at the last minute because of the gasoline shortage which was especially critical in Colorado.) Classes were held in the detection of counterfeits, grading, ancient coins, and, for the first time, coin photography. It was my pleasure, as President of the ANA, to attend many of the seminar sessions. I strongly recommend that you plan to take part in the 1974 ANA summer seminar. Special thanks are due all those who helped put on this year's seminar, including the staff of Colorado College.

This message had to be prepared at the end of July. At that time, all indications were that the 82nd Anniversary Convention in Boston would be one of the biggest and best. It is hoped that you were there to meet old friends, make new friends, and enjoy all aspects of our collecting hobby. Why not start now to plan to come to our 83rd Anniversary Convention which will be held in Miami Beach at the Americana Hotel August 13-18, 1974?

Again, I thank all the members for their support during my term of office as ANA President. I have really enjoyed working with you and for you. You can always count on me to continue to work for and support the ideals and purposes of the ANA as outlined in our federal charter granted the ANA in 1912 and renewed in perpetuity in 1962. I suggest that you reread this document with particular attention to Section 3, which includes such purposes as advancing "the knowledge of numismatics along educational, historical, and scientific lines," bringing numismatists into "closer relations with one another," and promoting a "friendly feeling for one another through social intercourse, the interchange of ideas and discussions of mutual interest."

The reverse of a 1935 nickel showing the doubling from a doubled die - the first instance of this on the reverse of a coin.

FROM FIDOS TO DOUBLED DIES — A SHORT HISTORY

by Alan Herbert R-67555

If we could go back down the lines of time, and watch as the first coiner set up the first die and made the first trial strike, examined it carefully, and then perhaps pocketed it as a not quite perfect souvenir of his work, and went on to make the coins for which the die was intended, we would have seen the first error collector in action. Until recent years, such interest has been the exception that is now becoming the rule.

The collecting, and prizing of errors, mistakes, varieties, trial pieces, oddities or FIDOS—a coined word—has become intermingled with the hobby of coin collecting, and while it is the especial province of the American collector, there is sufficient interest in other parts of the world so that many reference books refer, at least indirectly to some of the variations that can add spice to collecting.

For many purists, that we error collectors call "date and mint" collectors, the very mention of the term "error," or one of the other terms is enough to raise hackles and blood pressure by a degree at least equal to the number years the person has been collecting, multiplied by the number of key coins resting in his deposit box. This is regrettable, and something that serious mint error collectors are working to correct, or at least reduce, because the talents and knowledge involved, and gained thru the collecting and study of varieties and oddities of coining are adding to the total sum of knowledge of the entire hobby. As one of the spokesmen, it has become my enjoyable task to help spread the word and perform missionary work in the forests and fields of dates and mints. As part of that work, I think you will find some of the history and background, some of the current accomplishments, and some of the predictions for the future of this steadily growing area of the hobby of interest.

There are many misconceptions about collecting errors and oddities. There is little knowledge of the field outside the ranks of the serious collectors, and there are few dealers who know and understand mint errors enough to be able to buy and sell them intelligently. Sadly, there are a smattering of dealers who, because they sell coins, feel obliged to sell errors, and through their hands pass grossly overpriced errors, or even coins that have been damaged, rather than being a mis-truck product of the mint. In self defense, the oddity collectors have embarked on a campaign of publicity, education and editorial pressure in an effort to educate both dealer and collector against the pitfalls of ignorance at both ends of the transaction.

One of the pioneers in the field of error collecting was the late Michael Kolman, Jr., who became interested in mint errors in the 1930's, and in October 1956 published the first Mint Error Collector Bulletin, for a group calling itself the Mint Error Collectors Club, which was formed at a meeting during the 1956 ANA Convention in Chicago. Kolman, who was active in the ANA, tied his club in closely with the ANA, so that even the first membership cards issued said ... "A member in good standing until the 1957 ANA Convention."

Evidence of the interest at that Chicago meeting was the fact that 30 members were signed up, and more than double that number by the time the December 1956 issue of the Bulletin was published.

That first roster of more than 70 names contains only a handful who are still active in error collecting, notably the first secretary of the group, which by December 1956 had already changed its name to Collectors of Mint Errors (COME), Raymond Larson of Plattsmouth, Nebraska, who is one of the few true experts on mint errors and oddities.

The first name on the list that catches the eye is that of Abe Kosoff, followed by Charles W. Schermerhorn, A.C. Overton, James Kelly, Aubree E. Bebee, Dr. Hewett Judd and Art Kagin, a respectable sprinkling of prominent people in the world of coins.

They were joined shortly by Glenn Smedley, Harry J. Forman, Clifford Mishler (Senior Editor of Krause Publications), Elston G. Bradfield (then editor of The Numismatist), William Donlon, Chet Krause, Frank Spadone and others.

Reading thru the pages of the bulletin, there are many instances of "history repeating itself." On page 2 of the first bulletin is a story of the "Man of the Year" — Al Overton, who sold "a double struck Morgan type dollar, over half off center, the finest known, for $500 at the Chicago ANA convention," bringing us to the recent sale of the off-center 1882-CC dollar by the GSA.

Kolman in the February 1957 issue quoted a United Press dispatch from Philadelphia about a coin dealer there who had found a "miniature" 1956 half dollar in a mint bag, and who said the coin "may be the rarest coin in the world and worth an estimated $50,000." This problem of misinformed dealers and newspaper reporters is still with us. Kolman, in debunking the story pointed out that he had three different dates, including a 1956 that he would sell to any interested party at a "slight discount" below the $50,000 figure," say for about $100 each." He went on to mention that a similar coin in Jim Kelly's ANA auction in Chicago (1956) sold for $75.

On the same page is a story describing the 1955-P "Bugs Bunny half dollar, "a so-called minor die variety. Franklin shows a fang or two from the upper lip. There is also a roughness in the field in front of the face." While not a reflection on Kolman, who concentrated on what we now call the striking and planchet errors, this is the extent of the knowledge of that day, when he goes on to say, "This die variety is caused by the die heating up, causing the metal to stick to the dies and is called 'suction marks' or 'die pulls.' In Beistle's book on die varieties he notes this occurrence on early bust type half dollars as 'ak-cidefect' lines." (Today we know that the effect is the result of the dies clashing together.) This is by no means the first, or only piece of misinformation or utter nonsense about the minting process that has gotten into print.

Of interest to current collectors is his further comment, "We took the trouble

A partial collar strike on an 1883-CC dollar from the GSA sale. The reeded edge is as far up around the coin as the collar got.

tion in St. Louis. The story also mentions a Lincoln cent struck in gold from the Col. Green collection, then owned by a Mr. McDermott of Milwaukee, and went on to describe gold errors owned by Kolman's assistant, Myron Zdziechowski, including an 1899-S $20 with large flaked out piece (lamination) in back of head, an 1803 $10 off center, an 1887-S $5 flaked planchet on reverse, a 1904 $2.50 struck off center, and a Henry Hudson gold dollar 1/3 off center.

Error collecting had its critics, and one unidentified carper wrote to one of the COME members to the effect that the mint error term should go back to the old FREAKS. Kolman restrained his sharp pen, but did point out that he had been at it for 15 years, had seen and purchased many mint errors from older collectors, and that the fine state of preservation of many of the older mint errors indicated that they had been saved as objects of value. He went on to note that COME had gained over 150 members in 10 months, and nearly double that number were subscribing to the Bulletin.

In an editorial a few months later Kolman quoted from an article in the Numismatist in 1901 which reported "displays of many prominent men were listed, among them a gentleman from Chicago (that) took first prize for his mint errors." Kolman wondered, in print, "what happened to these errors?" just as we wonder what happened to many of the errors listed for sale or in collections mentioned in the bulletin. What happened for instance to the "well known O.P. Eklund Collection," which contained many examples of foreign errors-brockages, double strikes, off centers and other important errors at a time when there were few interested in U.S. errors? Dr. Litman took his best of show award with some of them.

The COME members were, for the most part, interested in only the planchet and striking errors, as opposed to the die errors. Dr. Litman, in an article titled "Poor Abe Lincoln" mentions "I have received through the mail several letters and mimeographed price lists describing die varieties ? of Lincoln cents. Listed here are a few of the Catastrophies that have happened to Mr. Lincoln."

"Coat torn, sleeve torn, collar tight, collar creased, tie short, beard cut off, nose hooked, ear too high, bridge of nose gone, forehead straight, throat cut, cheek peeling, broken jaw variety, peeled face, defective hair, one half of head gone and no chest variety."

At that time, no one had heard of laminations, or polished dies, so for lack of information a nickname was used. The same is still true today, although the tendency has also been to use nicknames to "jazz up" a common error in promoting it. In the above list, there are several that defy identification.

It wasn't until the March 1958 issue of the bulletin that one of the 1955-P "double shift" cents (doubled die) appeared in the mail auction, with a $30 reserve on a reddish brown uncirculated specimen. On the facing page, George Stevenson in an ad stated, "'Experts' say 1955-P double shift cent (with all lettering and date clearly doubled) worth 'practically nothing.' I'll pay up to 500 times face value for any date or mint cent that is equal to Lot #2 in this month's auction (the coin mentioned above), a real 'double shift.'" (This, while most dealers were selling them for a few cents, if they would handle them at all.)

Another news note, that Abe Kosoff, "who has the 1958 ANA National Convention Auction Sale in August, informs us that in his splendid catalog, of examining a box of $500, or 1,000 pieces and found the ratio of this die variety against the perfect specimens as 160 pieces per 1,000, or 16 percent. We feel it should be valued at about 25 per cent more than the regular specimens." Today, the clashed die coin is worth $10, and the regular BU coin about $7, not far above Kolman's figures.

The May 1957 issue of the bulletin contained a special announcement for the COME members, reminding them of the 1957 ANA Convention at the Hotel Sheraton in Philadelphia, and going on to say, "Our second meeting will be held . . . and promises to be the largest display of mint errors ever to be assembled for the viewing public. Polish up your display cases and bring your finest errors and compete for the Grand Prize Award."

In the followup announcement after the convention, it was noted that ANA awards went to Charles Schermerhorn and Wilson Pollard, in addition to internal club awards. In addition, there were 68 mint errors listed in the 66th ANA Convention catalog, prepared by Kolman, who served as cataloger and auctioneer, and who noted, "Best buy of the sale (editor's opinion) was lot number 1398 which was a double thick 1891-O dollar. Never seen or heard of another and it was really thick."

Even in those days Kolman and his fellow error collectors were having troubles with "fake" errors, or "fabrications" as he listed them in an article warning COME members of the undersized planchet coins that had been forced into a good luck token, or the acid treated coins. He also mentioned in passing the problems with "so called" brass planchet cents, as he (and everyone else outside the mint at the time) was unaware that the mint had long since switched from a bronze alloy to brass, following World War II.

The 1943 cent struck in copper was also mentioned, with "daily inquiries" and he said flatly, "There never was a 1943 cent struck in copper, and every one we have seen we have filed the edge only to see the steel underneath the copper plating." He then hedges a bit by saying, "If the steel does not show, you have an error and a new discovery." In the preceeding paragraph his comment on filing a coin makes an interesting contrast with today's thinking about mint errors, when he says, "Don't worry that the filing will spoil the error, as this is the only way that you will know whether it is genuine."

Mint error displays were taking prizes at other shows besides the ANA Convention, as the bulletin noted a Best of Show award to Dr. J. H. Litman at the Penn-Ohio Convention in 1957, and at the Empire State Convention of that year Shermerhorn took a first with his display. John Dunn at the Oklahoma-Kansas Convention took a first with his errors as did Ken Ferguson at the Akron Fall Convention. Wryly, Kolman noted, "How about those firsts (and seconds) when years ago when I was displaying loads and loads of mint errors, I was very thrilled with even a slight recognition, honorable, seconds, thirds, etc."

Few collectors realize that there is a steady demand for gold errors, or that they run into three, four and even five figures today. In 1957, a news item listed some of the then known gold errors, including a 1900 cent struck on a quarter eagle planchet purchased by Art Kagin at the Central States Conven-

The large diebreak (cud) that was nicknamed the "athiest" cent.

he unquestionably will feature some very unusual mint errors."

The November 1958 issue of the bulletin gave the first hint of financial and contributor trouble that was to dog the club until its demise a few years later. In a financial statement, Kolman showed expenses of nearly $1,100 against income of $450 for the first four issues for the year, and the new president, Dr. Litman, in his President's Letter, noted there was a lack of material—articles—to be published, and the same problem is still plaguing most of the error clubs today.

The same issue listed errors that the late B. Max Mehl had described in his catalog dated December 18, 1923, including an 1827 half dollar "struck off to left," valued at $2.40, and a lot of dimes including 1875, 1890, 1917, 1918 and 1919 struck off center valued at 25 cents each.

In the August 1959 issue of the bulletin, is a copy of a letter that bears repeating, in the light of the recent identification of a dual hubbed 1971-P cent die, made by impressing an old, worn and spread hub into the die first, and then making the second impression with a new normal size hub, giving a "tapered" doubling across the word "Liberty" with two distinct images similar to the doubled dies, except that the doubling is in various directions rather than circling the coin.

The letter, written January 18, 1944, confirms Taxay's suspicion that the 1942/1 dime was the result of the use of two different hubs, one with a 1941 date, and the other with the 1942 date.

Leland Howard, director of the Mint, wrote the letter to the late H.E. MacIntosh of the Tatham Stamp and Coin Company, in response to his inquiry about the newly discovered error. In his letter he said, "...it may be assumed that they were made from an imperfect die which, under the extreme pressure of war work and lack of experienced personnel, escaped detection.

"The dime under consideration with a date of 1942 over 1941, was not repunched or reengraved. In September of each year the engraving of the numeral in the new master die for the following year is started. From this master die a working 'hub' is drawn. This is retouched if necessary, then hardened. This hub is used to fabricate all the working (coinage) dies for that year. Therefore, during the months of September, October, November and December, the Engraving Department is working on dies for the current year's coinage and at the same time preparing those for the following year. Approximately one thousand dies with new date, must be ready by January 1 of each year. DURING THAT PERIOD WHEN UTMOST VIGILANCE WAS REQUIRED TO KEEP THE DIES SEGREGATED BY RESPECTIVE YEARS, A DIE MAY HAVE BEEN GIVEN ONE BLOW WITH A 1941 HUB AND THEN BY SOME ACCIDENT FINISHED WITH A 1942 HUB.

"All dies are usually inspected by a number of skilled workmen before they are delivered. Due to the heavy demand for coins, the Engraving Department has necessarily streamlined its operations, and such an imperfect die apparently escaped detection."

Today, we know that at least one P mint dual hubbed and one D mint die were produced that year, and a number of other cases of strange doubling have now been credited by the author to dual hubbing of a die, including a 1942 quarter, and the 1960 large over small and small over large dates.

On the same page with Howard's letter was notice that Yeoman had included the 1955-P "Double Dies" or "double shift" cent in his 13th edition, with the first of many critical remarks, this one apparently from Kolman to the effect that the cents on silver planchets that he specialized in were far rarer than the 55-P cent. The Redbook ever since has been the target of some who felt that the variety had no place in its pages, but following a survey the current editor, Ken Bressett, decided to add the 1972-P doubled die cent — the one with the widest spread.

COME went into 1959 with more than 230 members, and at the Portland, Oregon ANA Convention that year Harry Forman, who is still actively engaged in mint error sales along with his date and mint coin business, was elected president. A motion was made that the club change its name to Collectors of Numismatic Errors (CONE) but after some discussion it was withdrawn for further consideration. The club did eventually change its name to CONE for a short period before dissolving, but had no direct connection with the present day CONE, other than that one of the CONE founders, Raymond Larson was active in the "new" CONE and served ably on the club's Board of Directors.

In the November 1959 bulletin, Editor Kolman made another of his shrewd predictions, commenting on a 1957-D cent with a double profile. "Interesting, and we make this comment for the owner of this minor die variety for his keen eye and observation—possibly twenty years hence this type may create a mild interest and possibly be recognized by collectors of this period as a variety." His time span was off, but die errors have since attracted plenty of interest.

On the same page he describes oval planchet errors, describes one possible method by which they might be produced, and indicates that they were selling at the time for 35 cents. Today they start at about $25. Kolman went on to describe the "indented" error, with a correct description of the combination of two planchets, coins or a coin and a planchet in the coining chamber at the same time.

Larson took over as editor of the bulletin in 1960, after Kolman pleaded the financial loss, and the press of his business interests. In his biographical sketch Larson noted his ANA number—15143, and indicated that he had been collecting mint errors since 1948.

The May 1960 issue of the bulletin contains some interesting information that we had been searching for elsewhere, concerning some 300 sets of milled edge 1937 cents and nickels that were obtained by the late Ira Reed from the Mint just prior to the 1941 ANA convention, and were sold at that convention. Larson cited information from the last F.C.C. Boyd as confirming that Reed had obtained them from the Mint, and that he was at the convention in question and could vouch for the statements. The prices realized at James Kelly's Auction at the Penn-Ohio convention, March 18-20 1960 included $35 for one of the reeded cents, and $52.50 for one of the reeded nickels. Considering the fuss the Mint is making over the 1964 Peace Dollar, we wonder if these coins were "Not Legally Issued" either.

Larson noted that Kenneth Bressett was then (1960) working on a book covering the entire field of mint errors, working with Kolman and Schermerhorn, which may be the book that Kolman published, which has escaped from my library. At the same time Larson indicated that he too wanted to write a book, but pointed out that distance from the Mint, and their reticent attitude toward answering questions was the principal deterrent. He urged any potential writers to "not mention Mint Errors. Rather your reference should be to damaged or mutilated coins, which inadvertently reached circulation."

Effective January 1st, 1961, the name change was made, and CONE become CONE, "to accurately describe collectors who collect both coin and currency errors." The change was voted in at the meeting at the 1960 Boston ANA convention.

Besides Kolman's book, "The Numismatic Lincoln Cent Errors" which was published in 1961, Canadian collectors were greeted by the Canadian Coin Variety Catalog" written by Hans Zoell, and the 1st edition of Everett G. Jewett's "Mistrikes and Oddities in the Lincoln Cent," a 24-page pamphlet which was described as an index and catalog of mint errors. Jewett's 4th edition, published in 1966, and like the others out of print, was undoubtedly the most concise and comprehensive coverage of errors made to that time stands alone today as a book which has survived the flood of knowledge of the minting process that the Mint is releasing for the asking.

In 1961 Schermerhorn listed 21 different types of coin errors, including Unlawful Errors (made in mints in early days.) Walter Breen in a similar contemporary list noted the dual hubbed 1942/1 dime, and attributed the 1918/7 nickel and quarter to the same cause.

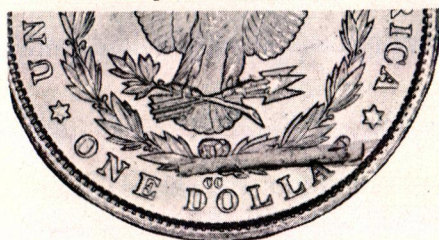

Behind the scenes another dark shadow had loomed. There were passing references to the Secret Service suddenly confiscating silver cents, beginning in early 1960, but it wasn't until Dr. Litman, past president of the club, wrote an editorial proposing that the president of ANA — Tim Shroyer, a member of CONE, John Pittman, Dr. Conway Bolt, President of CONE and Ken Bressett be appointed as a commission to go to Washington and suggest legislation to clarify the "present situation." Litman blamed a decline in displays of expensive oddities on the threat that they might be confiscated. In a footnote, Editor Larson said that he hadn't heard of a confirmed confiscation of any error coins in more than a year, (written in August 1961) and that the Secret Service was confiscating plated 1883 no cents nickels, and cents stamped with the masonic emblem. He went on to argue that any and all errors have been regularly issued by the mints as mediums of exchange. "The fact that some of them may be slightly irregular or greatly irregular is irrelevant. Our coins do not possess metal of value equal to the denominations stamped on their faces, therefore then can be classified as money of account and subject to variation."

The 1962 ANA President C. C. Shroyer, a charter member of COME, appointed a "clarification" committee to meet with the government officials in an effort to reach agreement on what coins could be legally held. CONE voted to ask Shroyer to appoint Paul Franklin, a long-time member of the COME-CONE board of governors, as an additional member of the committee, to represent CONE. The committee was actually formed by retiring ANA President Dodson, with Dr. J. Hewett Judd as chairman, and the committee was called the Dr. Judd Committee. It was to report back as soon as possible.

The end of the trail came for Editor Larson in December of 1962 with the announcement that on doctor's orders he was dropping his jobs as secretary and editor. In May, 1962 the familiar name of Kolman was back on the masthead, and the name changed to the Numismatic Mint Error Collector Bulletin. From that time on, there was no mention of CONE in its pages until the front page editorial by Kolman in the November 1963 issue, and even then he called it the "Mint Error Club." (The new CONE had already been formed, organized and incorporated as a non-profit corporation in May, 1963) Kolman complained that an annual meeting was not held at the ANA Convention in Denver, and hinted at a division in the club.

The February 1964 issue had a new masthead, the same editor, and a new name. Attached was a notice to the effect that subscriptions to the old bulletin expired with the November 1963 issue, and that it had now been combined with the Federal Brand Eagle as a house organ of Kolman's Federal Brand Enterprises. The front page referred to the club as COME again, and indicated that Kolman felt that they had suspended operations. The next Eagle was the last, published in May of 1964.

One of nearly two dozen 1882-CC dollars from the GSA sale that were identified as being from the same die. This was the earliest stage of a piece of metal being struck into the reverse. The final stage, after the metal widened and thinned out, shows two small depressions on the A and on the wreath - all that's left.

Two massive diebreaks (cuds) on a 1972-D nickel, with a diecrack down the cheek where the next piece of the die will break away. The blank metal is raised, but may appear as an optical illusion and seem to be incuse.

CONE picked up where COME-CONE left off, but headed in a different direction. Where the older club had stressed the more expensive errors, CONE put more emphasis on the die errors that could be readily found in circulation, and quickly expanded as the "little" collectors joined up. The club publication, The Errorgram was started, and the magazine The Penny began publication, both stressing the interest in diebreaks and diecracks and other mishaps to the die.

In 1965, following an internal power struggle, several dissidents dropped out and formed their own error club, the BIE Guild, to be followed shortly by another group which formed the Numismatic Error Collectors of America (NECA). The three clubs remain the only national error clubs on the scene today. CONE and BIE are both club members of ANA.

Both NECA and CONE have affiliated local error clubs scattered over the country, and CONE has an affiliate the only national Canadian error club, the Canadian Numismatic Variety Collectors Association, and the only local Canadian club, the Toronto Error Variety Society. With the combined Canadian and U.S. membership, CONE remains the largest of the three national clubs, with NECA a close second.

In 1966, CONE started the Register of Numismatic Errors, using an alphabetical cataloging system of listing die errors, and since then has issued supplements listing new finds. A large card file is maintained, with a card for each new die that is identified.

The writer has served as executive secretary of CONE since 1967 and during that same period has been responsible for filing and editing the supplements to the Register. The current most active project is a detailed registering of the individual doubled die coins as they are discovered. Since the discovery of the first five Philadelphia dies, CONE members have discovered seven more, plus three additional stages of the No. 3 die, a fifth Denver die and a 1941-P cent die.

Both CONE and NECA have instructional material on mint errors that they send to new members. Coin World since 1960 and Numismatic News since 1968 have had columns on mint errors, as does COINage Magazine. Coin Prices Magazine began publishing mint error prices in an irregular schedule in 1971, based on the writer's revision of the methods of defining mint errors, separating them into planchet, die and striking errors, or the P-D-S system as it is called, to match the three mints.

One of the major problems facing error collectors, and one we touched on earlier, is the question of "language." In order to teach the thousands of new error collectors the basics of the minting process and the resulting errors, it is vitally necessary that we all agree on the terms and definitions that we use. As we have quoted, the hobby began with nicknames, often meaningless except to the individual that applied them, that could also be accused of being a "secret" language of the snob collector.

Toward that end, we have formed a joint committee on terms in CONE and NECA to work on the problem, and come up with mutually agreeable terms that we can use. It might be well to point out here that differences between the clubs have been remanded back to the personalities involved, and every effort is being made to keep such personal problems out of the club business.

This brings us to the question of where, and why the error collectors fit into the overall coin collecting hobby. To many date and mint collectors, the error collector seemingly has degenerated into a fanatic tracking microscopic mistakes, a wild-eyed radical who ignores the niceties of an unblemished coin in search of its mistruck mate.

We can plead guilty to only part of that. For one thing, a microscope is only part of our equipment, used only to confirm or refute some intricate problem. We don't collect microscopic errors, regardless of what you may have seen, heard, or assume. As a rule of thumb, we are not interested in anything that can't be seen with a 10 power lens, and preferably a five power. For most die errors, the larger it is, the more it is worth.

Percentagewise, we are recruiting more new members for the coin hobby than any other "branch" and the number of error collectors is steadily increasing. We are actively recruiting youth, because mint error collecting is the least expensive way to get into coin collecting, and the one area where new collectors can find collectable coins in their pocket change. Two of the new local error clubs formed this year are composed of all student members, below the age of 18. How many date and mint collecting clubs of this kind have been formed?

We number in our ranks most of the people outside the mints who have any real knowledge of the minting operation — of how our coins are made. We have a lot of information that we have gathered over the years on using the minting "fingerprints" in identifying dies, spotting counterfeits, tracking down changes in minting procedure, all of ultimate benefit to the entire hobby.

You think nothing of collecting over-dates, recut dies, and other die varieties—they are a part of date and mint collecting. They are a part of error collecting too, and chances are, like the new information we are uncovering about dual hubbed dies, we can find many more things that will help you in your collecting.

The Mint has done a 180 degree turn on the subject of information. Now, rather than guarding it as they did in the early 60's, they have opened the door, and answered our questions and showed us how they do it. In return, we hope to be able to continue to furnish coins, as we are doing now, with technical problems, that they want to see, so that they can correct them. The error collectors, and would-be error collectors in the past few years have become the inspectors for the Mint, if only on an unofficial basis. The Mint, and other branches of government are paying more attention to the collector, and we error collectors are slowly getting our message across that we are not "gunning" for them just because we pounce on every error coin that comes out. They have learned from us, just as we have learned from them.

Another case in point of the progress is the relationship that the error hobby has made with the GSA. After getting off to a bad start, the error collectors - including the variety experts - have pitched in and helped sort and identify some of the coins in the sale, spotted the off center dollar that garnered so much publicity, as well as other coins that add to the potential value that a CC dollar buyer can expect to get for his money. The variety collector will ultimately profit.

A large diebreak (cud) on a nickel. The dark area above the hair is a chip out of the die that will probably break away next.

At first glance wire - but this was actually excelsior - wood fibers - struck into this 1882-CC dollar from the GSA sale. We estimated $300 on this one, because of the nearly unique material struck into it.

Rather than confiscate, as was the case in 1961, the Government is knowingly selling mint errors over the counter in their bid sales. They sold the off center dollar for $30, and they knew that it would bring substantially more than that on the open market. One west coast error dealer predicted that the coin will eventually sell for $5,000 or more, on the strength of it being the first error coin sold by Uncle Sam, and the resulting publicity. The latest offer for it is $3,500.

The Mint now is willing to admit that they make mistakes, with some isolated exceptions, which is a major step forward. The next step, or one of the next steps is for the ANA to recognize that mint errors do exist, that they are just as collectable as bridge tokens, and to provide a suitable area in which the error collector can compete on an equal footing with the other branches of coin collecting without being lumped in the Misc. class.

What of the future? Recognized or not, the error collectors will keep right on collecting, and learning, and working for the good of the hobby, teaching youngsters to use their heads for something besides planning pot parties. My crystal ball shows me thousands upon thousands of date and mint collectors who are bored stiff with their collections, who will find out that the excitement and freedom that we offer is what they've been looking for all along. I see more thousands who can no longer find even wheatback cents, let alone keys, or even semi-keys in circulation, either dropping out of the hobby, losing interest, or else finding error collecting, where there is room for everyone, and a new frontier on the other side of every coin.

We offer "instant interest" in more ways than one. Where else can you pick a brand new coin out of a mint bag that has an immediate value of hundreds, or thousands of times face, because it is an error, a collectable coin. Think for a minute how much your collection has appreciated in the last 10 years. If you'd been looking for mint errors over the last 10 years, how much would your collection be worth now?

If you're a research buff, and you feel all the research in coins has been done, you haven't looked at mint errors. We've identified a dozen or more causes of doubling. There are still twice as many unexplained forms of doubling that you could work on.

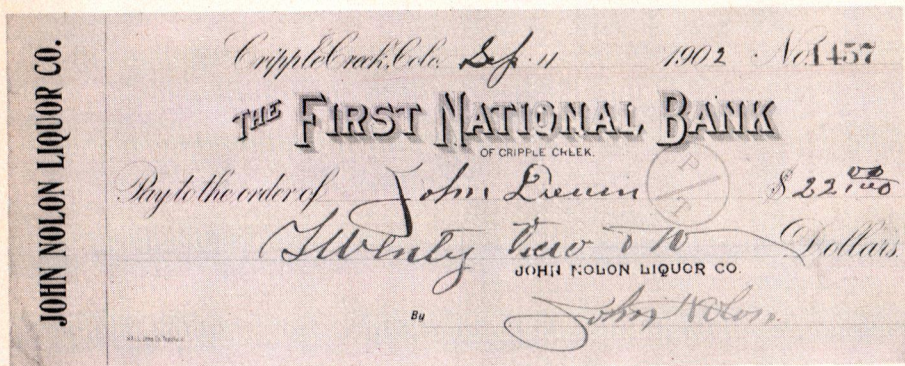

You're a statistician, a file clerk, a photographer, a metal worker, you've got an insatiable curious streak, you don't believe things unless you see them for yourself - you can find your niche in error collecting.

We won't say that date and mint collecting is dying on the vine - because other people have already said it. We won't say that error collecting can be the salvation of the hobby, because that is hogwash, but we do say that all parts of the hobby should be really a part of it, and all working together to enjoy our hobby. That's where the excitement comes in.

WHY COLLECT CHECKS ?

(Checks Can Tell an Interesting Story)

By William C. Henderson, LM 730

John Nolon Liquor Co.

The Story of a Compassionate Bar Tender

In 1890, Bob Womack, a cowboy working for the Bennett and Myers Cattle Company, discovered gold in Poverty Gulch.

The ranch, owned by Bennett and Myers, included all of what later became known as Cripple Creek, "The World's Greatest Gold Camp." By the summer of 1891 after the news of Womack's gold discovery had been confirmed, prospecting activities had increased considerably. The city Cripple Creek was organized in 1892. Production of gold had reached almost $3 million by 1893, and due to the increased business within the area, the district's first bank was organized and opened in 1893, The Bank of Cripple Creek.

The Bank of Cripple Creek was established by James Parker and was located in the A. A. Ireland Real Estate Office. This bank later converted into a national banking association, and continued as the First National Bank until 1971. The economic conditions continued to improve, and by 1895 the total gold production was in excess of $6 million, and a second bank had been placed in operation, The Bi-Metallic Bank.

On the east side of the mountains at the foot of Pikes Peak, in Manitou

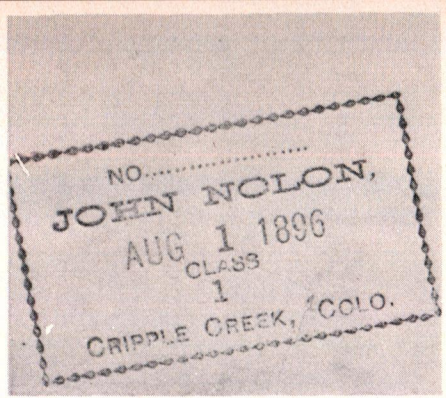

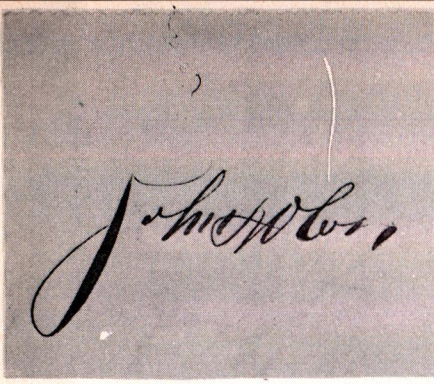

The building shown above still stands on the northeast corner of Bennett Avenue and Third Street in Cripple Creek. This building was originally occupied by Johnny Nolon's Saloon. Today it is the headquarters for the Golden Cycle Land Office.

Springs, was an enterprising young man who owned the best-known saloon. He operated this establishment under the name of Johnny Nolon's Saloon. Johnny Nolon's fine home was located a short two blocks away on Canon Avenue, which let into William's Canyon, enroute to the Cave of the Winds. Many of the Cripple Creek miners would stop at Nolon's Saloon when coming from the mining area into Colorado City and Colorado Springs. While partaking of their favorite beverage, they would tell of recent and rich discoveries within the district. Their reports increased the interest and desires of many people, one of which was Johnny Nolon.

Early in the summer of 1895, Johnny proceeded to Cripple Creek and purchased a lot located on the northeast corner of Bennett Avenue and Third Street. He immediately contracted for a substantial wooden building to house the Johnny Nolon's Saloon of Cripple Creek. This new business venture was a success from the very beginning and continued to increase each month. During the first three months of 1896, the production of gold was exceeding that produced in 1895. A feeling of optimism prevailed throughout the entire district. The population of the district at that time was estimated to be 30,000, of whom 16,000 lived in Cripple Creek.

It was Saturday, April 25, 1896, a relatively warm and bright day in Cripple Creek. The last snow had fallen two weeks before, and only small patches remained in shaded spots and on the north side of roofs. Around noon, a bartender from Penrose's Topic Saloon stopped at the Mint Saloon near the Palace Hotel and had a glass of beer. He then strolled east along Bennett Avenue. Upon reaching Third Street, he turned south and continued to Myers Avenue. He crossed the intersection of Myers and Third to the building on the southeast corner. The Central Dance Hall was located on the ground floor. He proceeded to ascend the stairs to the second floor room where his woman, Jennie La Rue resided. She was ironing her dress in preparation for the afternoon Taxi-Dance at the Topic. The two began to argue, he slapped her quite hard and she lunged at him with a large knife. He grabbed her arm and a scuffle ensued, resulting in a gasoline stove being knocked over. Flames spread rapidly over the wood floor, and three minutes later the residents at Cripple Creek heard Fire Chief Allen fire his revolver three times to call the volunteer firemen.

The fire lasted only three hours but 30 acres of the city were completely burned and more than 3,000 people were homeless with damage exceeding $500,000. Johnny Nolon, having acquired considerable property, was the heaviest loser. Next heaviest were Charles Tutt and Spencer Penrose, owners of the Topic. On Sunday morning building supplies were being hauled to Nolon's lot for a new building and construction began immediately. This time the building was constructed of brick.

Just four days later, on April 29, 1896, fire broke out again. This fire started in the kitchen of The Portland Hotel, on the west side of Second Street, south of Myers Avenue. A moderate wind was blowing, and within minutes the fire was spreading over a large area. The fire was finally controlled by 4:30 p.m., leaving another 17 blocks completely devastated with losses in this second fire exceeding $1,250,000. The business men and citizens displayed true American determination; shortly the entire business area was being rebuilt with bricks, stone and mortar. Life in the "World's Greatest Gold Camp" returned to normal in record time. The slogan of the time was, "Every Day's a week, and there's no Sunday in Cripple Creek."

Johnny Nolon's Saloon was again in operation within a relatively short time, with finer appointments, additional gambling equipment and additional facilities for dispensing the district's favorite beverages.

Bob Womack was a frequent poker player at Nolon's and Johnny Nolon, a former Pony Express rider from St. Joseph, Missouri, ran the straightest gambling house in town. He was a small man, impeccably dressed, soft-spoken Irish Catholic with great tact and a very soft heart. He was a sucker for a touch and any hungry miner could always get a meal at Nolon's. At night, Johnny covered the pool tables with blankets and let the homeless bed down.

One of the favorite stories told in Cripple Creek regarding Johnny's compassion for his less fortunate fellow citizens, relates to the Salvation Army group who in the late spring of 1897, were conducting their weekly service outside Nolon's Saloon. They obviously picked this spot due to the heavy patronage Nolon's received, since it was now the largest of more than 70 saloons in Cripple Creek. Shortly after they began their evening service, a heavy rain started. Nolon went outside and invited the group to come inside where it was dry to conduct their service; this they proceeded to do. Johnny closed the bar and gambling tables and at the conclusion of the service took a tambourine from a young lady, made a substantial contribution himself and then proceeded to take up a collection from all of the miners present. This was no doubt one of the most generous offerings ever received by the Salvation Army in Cripple Creek.

Another interesting story of Johnny Nolon is the one regarding a sculptor-artist who was patronizing all of the facilities in the saloon one evening. All of his luck was bad and he had indulged beyond his financial means, resulting in his being unable to compensate Johnny for his losses and drinks. He informed Nolon he would be willing to paint him a picture, or sculptor a piece of statuary for him. Finally, by choice, Johnny agreed all his debts would be cancelled if he carved a red sandstone buffalo for him; this the artist proceeded to do. Nolon placed this buffalo carving in the yard of his home in Manitou Springs, where it reposes today.

Yes, checks CAN tell an interesting story!

CENTURY OLD NOTES

A Danbury boy found a pocket-book belonging to a Mill Plain man, and restored it to the owner, who gave him a five cent piece. The boy looked at the coin an instant, and then handing it reluctantly back, audibly sighed, as he said, "I can't change it." American Journal of Numismatics, 1873.

Convention Souvenir May Be Ordered

Mr. James A. Conlon, Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, has announced that, in addition to providing a numismatic exhibit at the American Numismatic Association's 82nd Anniversary Convention, August 23-27, 1973, in Boston, Massachusetts, a souvenir card complementing the event is available to the public.

The subject of the card is a reproduction of the engraving of the obverse of the $5 Silver Certificate, Series 1896 designed by Walter Shirlaw, a well-known illustrator of the period and an accomplished bank note engraver. The card is the last in a set of three devoted to the 1896 notes, a series which has become renowned over the years for its thematic artistry.

Copies, priced at $1 each and limited to not more than five per customer, may be ordered by mail from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Customers are requested to place their orders as soon as practicable to permit the accomplishment of as much advance processing as possible. In addition, a delay of as much as six weeks may be anticipated for filling some of the requests.

Mail orders, accompanied by the proper remittance in the form of a check or money order payable to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing should be addressed to ANA '73 card, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Washington, D.C., 20228. Customers are requested not to send cash with their orders.

Requests for the cards should be submitted on standard letter-size sheets or the order forms provided with previous shipments. The purchaser's name, address, and zip code should appear on both the order form and the transmittal envelope.

The Treasury Notes of 1890

A MYSTERY RESCUE OF THE 50 DOLLAR NOTE and SOME COMMENTS

by Robert H. Lloyd

For many years the Treasury reported the amount of U.S. Currency outstanding by denominations on a monthly basis. This was Form 5702 and was of interest to numismatists because it reflected the gradual reduction of the old currency issues in process of retirement. The present Form 1028 has been much revised, and no longer gives in detail the denominations of the uncurrent issues.

It is the older form which concerns us here. Form 5702 listed the total of the note issue outstanding together with a somewhat smaller total which excluded notes held by the Treasury and those in the hands of the Federal Reserve Banks and Agents. The exclusions were notes sent in for cancellation destined to be destroyed. This smaller total then is the amount held by the public, location unknown, in apparent circulation.

Naturally, over the years, the total of those issues in process of retirement shows a continuous decline monthly as the bills are redeemed and cancelled. The author has found only one instance in recent decades when the smaller total increased from one month to the next. That increase took place in the Fifty Dollar Treasury Note, Series 1891. This very attractive note was a very small issue to begin with, and is today a rarity.

In order to visualize this transaction it will be necessary to present the tables of figures and study them carefully to see the actual removal of this note from the stock of bills awaiting cancellation, and its re-issue or release. The enterprising individual who was able to retrieve this note from the Treasury deserves credit for being aware of its possible availability, and its return to the field of numismatics as a collectors item.

Form 5702 TREASURY NOTES OF 1890 As of February 29, 1936

Denomination	Total Amount Outstanding:	Amount outstanding exclusive of holdings by Treasury Offices and Fed. Res. Banks and Agents:
$ 1	$ 295,989	$ 295,987
2	179,004	179,000
5	330,381	330,371
10	232,195	232,075
20	75,730	75,690
"50"	1,500	1,450
100	33,900	33,600
1000	31,000	30,000
Total	1,179,699	1,178,173

From the above it will be seen that a 'reference' set had been set aside either by the Treasury or the Reserve Banks. The set included two each of the $1, $2, $5, and $20; twelve $10; three $100; and one each of the $50 and the $1,000.

Now let us examine the tables 10 years later:

Form 5702 TREASURY NOTES OF 1890 As of February 28, 1946

Denomination	Total Amount Outstanding:	Amount outstanding exclusive of holdings by Treasury Offices and Fed. Res. Banks and Agents:
$ 1	$ 293,953	$ 293,951
2	177,670	177,662
5	325,430	325,420
10	223,325	223,305
20	70,710	70,670
"50"	1,300	1,250
100	30,300	30,100
1000	28,000	27,000
Total	1,150,688	1,149,358

We see a slow steady attrition, but the set is still held. The dollar note is still present in the holdings. A further inspection of the tables was made nine years later; the figures are taken from the new Form 1028, which omits the column "Amount outstanding exclusive of Treasury Holdings and Holdings of Federal Reserve Banks and Agents." It now gives just the "gross" total, in the hands of the public.

Form 1028 TREASURY NOTES
 OF 1890 As of February 28, 1955

Denominations	Amount Outstanding
$ 1	$ 293,389
2	177,238
5	324,600
10	221,495
20	69,850
"50"	1,250
100	29,500
1000	25,000
Total	1,142,322

The reader will see that redemptions have continued but the figure for the fifties is unchanged after nine years; it is still $1,250.

Finally notice the table exactly one month later after a considerable "turning in" of the smaller denominations:

Form 1028 TREASURY NOTES OF
 1890 As of March 31, 1955

Denominations	Amount Outstanding
$ 1	$ 293,380
2	177,204
5	324,530
10	221,335
20	69,650
"50"	1,300
100	29,500
1000	25,000
Total	1,141,899

This shows that the lonesome fifty has been given up by the Treasury, and is now outstanding or in circulation. After lying around for more than 19 years, the note is no longer awaiting cancellation but is in the hands of the public. There may have been other instances when notes thus held were released, but this is the only one that shows up easily in the tables. Some holder was thus very fortunate to be able to procure this very rare currency item. The reader may draw his own conclusions about the sudden increase in the outstanding amount of the fifties.

We would be remiss if we did not account for the present low estimate of outstanding Treasury Notes as carried on the books of the Treasury.

In the passage of the Old Series Currency Adjustment Act Congress allowed the Treasury to write off such amounts as were thought to be irretrievably lost or destroyed. In 1961 the Secretary of the Treasury, C. Douglas Dillon, took one million dollars from the balance of the treasury notes. In 1964 an additional $100,000 was lopped off. The tables below show the amounts "before" and "after" the write-offs:

Form 1028	TREASURY NOTES OF 1890		Amounts Outstanding
Denomination	First Write-off $1,000,000	Second Write-off $100,000
	Sept. 30, 1961	Oct. 31, 1961	Oct. 31, 1964	Nov. 30, 1964
$ 1	$ 293,359	$ 23,374	$ 23,373	$ 6,626
2	177,198	22,198	22,196	6,458
5	324,445	24,445	24,425	7,000
10	221,195	21,190	21,180	6,300
20	69,610	19,600	19,560	5,800
50	1,300	1,300	1,300	350
100	29,500	14,500	14,500	4,000
1000	25,000	15,000	15,000	5,000
Total	1,141,607	141,607	141,534	4,534

The balance considered to be in existence on the last above date shows that the famous Sherman Notes of 1890 are but an insignificant portion of the old currency still in hands of the public.

Only the Demand Notes of 1861 have a shorter tenure. The "Coin" Notes represent another "noble experiment" in the complex history of U.S. Paper Money.

Convention Badges and Medals of the ANA

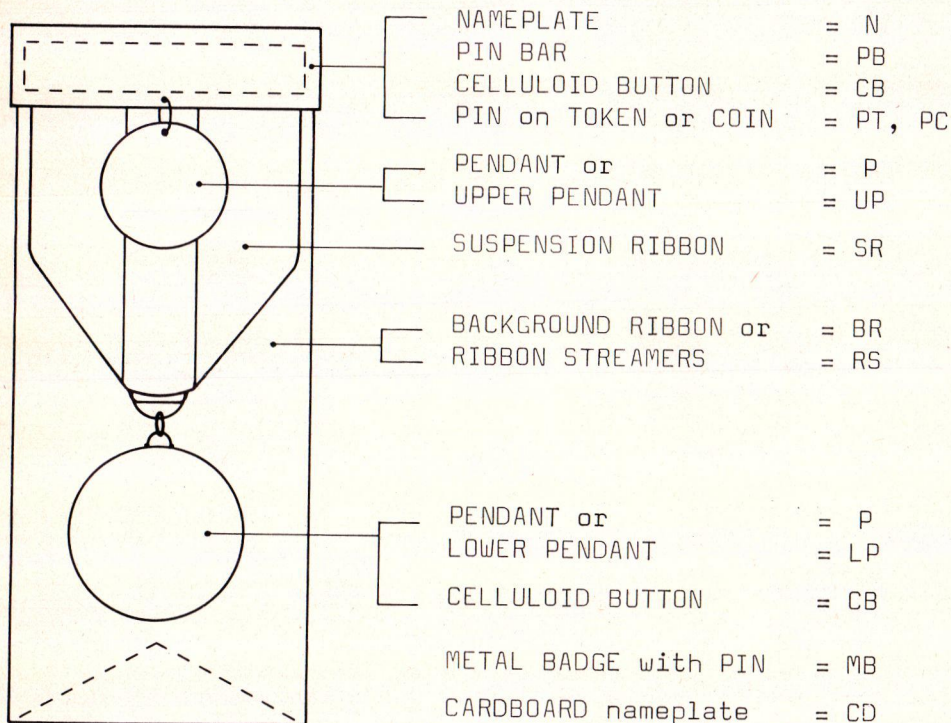

BY NEIL HARRIS, HISTORIAN

ANATOMY OF THE ANA CONVENTION BADGE

1908—1969

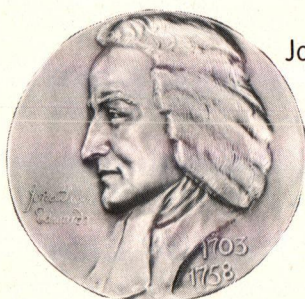

Illustrated here is a composite diagram indicating the many components that can combine to comprise badge issues. These components are identified and assigned letters of identification which in turn applies to the table listing each badge issue and its component combination. The table lists the badge components in the order in which they appear on the badge from top to bottom.

The diagram and the accompanying table, when used together with the badge checklist published previously, can quickly tell you the component combination of any badge in addition to the material of the major component and the approximate value of the issue. Since the many articles of the ANA Convention Badge and Medal series will not be at your fingertips, use these instant references while bargain hunting at shows and conventions . . . they will be all that you need.

A medal honoring Jonathan Edwards, the Presbyterian minister from Massachusetts who was a leader in the religious revival that swept through the American colonies in the 1740's, has been issued by the Hall of Fame for Great Americans at New York University. The 85th in a series commemorating the immortals in America's Hall of Fame, the medal was designed by Elisabeth Gordon Chandler and was struck by Medallion Art Company. Available in bronze and .999 fine silver, the medal is one and three-quarters inches in size. Bronze medals sell for $4 each, silver for $17.50. Silver medals are serially numbered on the edge and limited to an issue of 7,500. The medal is available at coin departments of department stores or may be ordered from The Coin and Currency Institute, Inc., 393 Seventh Ave., New York, N.Y. 10001. Enclose 75 cents for shipping and handling.

Mexican Currency Collection Goes to ANA

"The best available collection of Mexican paper money for research purposes in the United States is now in the vaults of the American Numismatic Association in Colorado Springs," announced John Jay Pittman ANA president.

Rated one of the two finest Mexican bank note collections in the U.S., it was donated to the American Numismatic Association by Renato Ruiz, El Paso Coin Company, El Paso, Texas. The collection numbers almost 2,000 different notes and is estimated to be worth $100,000. The only other sizable collection in the U.S. is in private hands and not available for research.

This fabulous collection represents over a decade of serious and intensive collecting by William T. Hooten. The collection was purchased from Mr. Hooten by Mr. Ruiz with the specific intent of donating it to the ANA museum, where it is now available for research and study by students of Mexican numismatic history.

It is believed that at least three of the notes are unique, and of particular interest are the 100 peso note El Banco Peninsular Mexicano printed by the Homer Lee Bank Note Company, the 1000 peso note of El Banco Yucateco engraved by the American Banknote Company, and the 5 peso El Banco Mejicano of 1883.

A number of the bills are of designs and denominations of which only two to five examples are known. Especially notable in this group is the 5 peso of El Banco de Michoacan and the collection contains many varieties and the complete series of all denominations of the El Banco Minero of Chihuahua complete through the 100 peso notes. In addition, there are the very interesting but extremely scarce bank overprints on bills of many Mexican banks.

Students of Mexican numismatic history will also find the collection extremely comprehensive in Revolutionary and private issues.

President Pittman, who doubles as museum committee chairman, in proudly announcing this latest acquisition, noted that with the Kenneth Keith collection of Mexican coins and medals, and the Ruiz collection of Mexican bank notes, that the ANA museum offers the researcher, cataloguer, and student access to coins, medals and bills that could be found nowhere else in the U.S.

NUMISMATIC VIGNETTES

• Most of us have wondered at the significance or origin of company or product names we come across now and then. In my case, one such is the name of one of the oldest producers of medallic items in this country: The Green Duck Company. Located in Chicago, it has been producing medals, tokens and badges since 1906 for customers whose names run the gamut of the alphabet, from American Motors to Zenith Radio. It is still in business although its more youthful sister, The Lincoln Mint, has taken over the production of fine arts items.

But what about that illogical name, The Green Duck Company. It is a contraction of the names of its two founding partners, Greeburg and Duckheisel. Sorry if that revelation shatters any romantic ideas—there was no feathered fowl involved after all.

By the time you read this, many ANA members will have an example to The Lincoln Mint's work in the form of the Boston convention medal and/or badge.

• “Too few have roots in economy,” stated Sydney J. Harris in his syndicated column in the Chicago Daily News recently. The excellent column was too lengthy to repeat here in toto, but the essence was as follows.

The bottom one-fifth of our population gets one-twentieth of the national income; and has NO liquid assets whatever beyond what happens to be in its pockets. The next 30 per cent holds liquid assets of less than $500 per family. So the bottom one-half of American families have less than $100 each in liquid assets, which amounts to less than 3 per cent of the country's total.

It's no mystery, considering this fact, that so many families must look to credit or charity for the basic necessities of mere existence whenever the pay check is interrupted for even a short period. We all have money and charge cards, so consider ourselves to be affluent; yet as a society of possession and ready resources we are sorely lacking and almost wholly dependent on our precarious jobs.

“Our grandparents, on the contrary, were more of a society of possession than of consumption. They lived sparingly and limited their needs, and generally owned their homes or shops or farms, and could ride out an economic storm more readily. More Americans need a genuine and deeply rooted stake in the capitalistic order, so that ‘affluence’ becomes more of a matter of ‘owning’ than of ‘spending.’”

Mr. Harris is not known as an economist, yet here he has set forth a basic economic fact that should be heeded by those of us who feel that “economics” is for millionaires, financiers and governments only.—Glenn S.

ANCIENT PLATED COINS - AN ENIGMA

by William D. Horr
ANA - 66776

Fourrée Denarius of the Roman Republic ca. 54 B.C.,

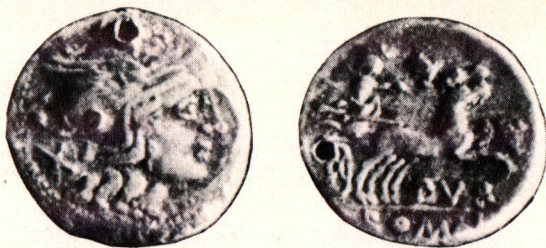

Obverse: Turreted head of Cybele facing right, "A. PLAUTIVS" moneyer's name in front of head, and "AED. CUR. S. C." behind head.

Reverse: Bacchius kneeling to the right of camel, "BACCHIVS" in exergue; "JUDAEVS" on the right. (Sydenham 932) Several dark spots are visible on the obverse edge and on Cybele's crown. These are areas where the silver has worn away and the copper core is clearly evident. The coin reverse retains its original silver skin intact.

During my early days of collecting ancient coins, I acquired a Roman imperial denarius of Augustus, 27 B.C. - 14 A.D., with his laureate bust facing right, and on the reverse Caius and Lucius Caesars standing (Cohen 43). Upon close examination under a magnifying lens, the coin appeared to have all the characteristics of a genuine ancient coin except one - I could detect several very small areas of corrosion, and in these pitted areas, copper with a small amount of verdigris could be clearly seen beneath the silver surface. Needless to say, my first conclusion was that I had purchased what all ancient coin collectors abhor - a fake. It was only when I very sheepishly showed the coin to an authoritative New York City dealer in ancient coins that he informed me it was genuinely ancient, and that the silver plating had been applied as part of the minting process when the coin was made. He also said that these plated coins were called "fourrées," and some of them were even more valuable than their identical types struck in solid silver. This diagnosis of the plated coin's antiquity not only restored my somewhat shaken self confidence, but also fired my curiosity to do a little research into the "what, how, and why" of fourrées and other types of ancient plated coins.

My initial reading of several articles written on the subject of ancient plated coins revealed that all of the authors agreed upon certain basic conclusions such as: (a) the coins were genuinely ancient, and (b) that the silver surface was applied at the time and as part of the original minting process. But here the agreement ended, and the controversy regarding the "how" and "why" of these plated coins began. The controversy still exists, and it may well

Fourrée Denarius of the Roman Republic, 137-134 B.C.,

Reverse: Diana in biga galloping right, "ROMA" in exergue and "PUR" below horses.

Moneyer is Furius Purpureo, (B. Furia 13., Sydenham 424). This coin has been pierced at 12 o'clock above Roma's head, and a large quantity of the silver skin has been lost, exposing copper core in much of the obverse field surrounding the higher relief features of Roma's head. As in Illustration No. 1, the reverse of this fourrée retains almost all of its original silver skin.

be never completely resolved because all of the facts essential to an absolute resolution are as yet not established.

First, let's separate the ancient plated coins into two general categories:

1. The true fourrée coin which is struck with a base metal core covered by a relatively thick skin of precious metal, i.e. gold or silver.
2. The "plated" antoniniani of the later Roman Empire which are struck entirely in bronze or copper and then subject to an application of silver amalgam, which after heating and evaporation of the mercury from the amalgam, left a thin silver wash deposited on the otherwise bronze/copper coin.

The word "fourrée" is from the French, and means literally, "stuffed," or "filled" in the same sense that we refer to in taxidermy or in describing an item of jewelry as gold filled. The technique of applying a gold or silver skin over a copper or other base metal core is almost as old as the process of minting. These plated fourrées were very effectively circulated in the Greek world, (i.e., the plated "owls" issued by Athens as a necessity measure). Their use in the Greek world no doubt spread to the Roman republic and subsequently to the Roman empire as a matter of course. From the 2nd and 3rd century A.D. the number of "stuffed" (fourrée) Roman coins discovered increased tremendously. This fact caused the eminent German numismatist, Mrs. Alföldi, Professor at Frankfurt University, to investigate this phenomenon. She came to the conclusion that these pieces (mostly copper and orichalcis coins) were not fakes, but officially struck by the Roman legions due to scarcity of precious metals sorely needed during war. Such coins were used for paying the troops and thus, circulated freely for long periods as their wear evidences.

A monograph was prepared by William Campbell and published in 1933 by the American Numismatic Society on the subject of fourrées.³ This book covers the results of very complete and painstaking observations on photographs made with metallagraphic microscope of specimens ranging from the 6th century B.C. to the 1st century A.D. The findings are quite definitive and update the brief article published in "The Roman Imperial Coinage" (1923) by Mattingly and Sydenham on the same subject.²

Taken from William Campbell's publication, the following is quoted: Reviewing the structures found in the above examination, we find most of the coins were made by covering the copper cores with silver sheet, cupped and overlapping, the whole being joined by a relatively fusible silver copper alloy, in most cases the eutectic alloy which melts at 778 degrees C.

Others were apparently made by sprinkling the copper core with powdered silver or silver copper alloy and heating strongly till the powder melted and "ran," or by dipping the copper core in liquid eutectic alloy or one rather richer in silver.

The joining of silver coating to the copper core to produce such structures can be done in two ways. The first, by using silver solder, would explain all of the structures found but not their marked irregularities. The second, in which no solder is used, is the same as that discovered by Bolsover for making Sheffield plate; in which the two metals are heated in contact to the point where a film of the eutectic alloy is produced (i.e., 778 deg. C). This gives rise to an irregular layer of the eutectic alloy such as occurs in most of the samples above. If we assume that silver solder was not known down to the time of Pliny, for he does not mention it, then it would seem that the Sheffield plate or diffusion method must have been used by the ancients, where the copper core is covered with sheet silver.

In Part II of the same study the above conclusions were pretty well verified, but a third method is also indicated:

... A third method was one in which silver foil was not used. It is possible to produce such a coating by dipping the copper core in a bath of silver-copper alloy, but as all of these coatings are very thin it is more probable that the method consisted of using powder and a suitable flux and heating until the silver melted and ran to form a continuous but irregular coating.

A summary quoted from Michael Crawford's article published in Numismatic Literature (1968) differs sharply from Mrs. Alföldi's conclusion in that it states:

Two demarii, one of pure silver, the other plated, and at first sight struck from the same dies, are described. A closer inspection shows that the latter is struck from false dies. The overwhelming literary and documentary evidence that plated coins were false coins should be believed.⁴

It can readily be seen that although there may have been more than one technique and method employed in various ancient locales during changing times for the minting of fourrées, this does not solve the dilemma of whether or not fourrées are outright ancient fakes or officially issued debased/counterfeit coins.

When we approach the motives and reasons for the ancient minting of fourrées, (the "why" of the matter), and attempt to determine whether they were intended as debased official issues, official or semi-official counterfeits, or outright contemporary fraudulent fakes; we should perhaps apply a bit of philosophy and historical experience to rationalize this controversy. Since we already know that fourrées are indeed true ancient artifacts, then the "why" of the manufacture and intended usage of fourrées is important, but only from the standpoint of more subject knowledge needed from future acquisition of relevant fact and data. Since fourrées are really ancient, it is therefore not reasonable to categorize them as "fraudulent" or to stigmatize them with the same title of "fake" that we rightfully place on the modern spurious repros and forgeries of ancient coins.

Let's examine the three stated reasons for the existence of ancient fourrées:

- | | |
|--------------------------------|---|
| 1. Official coins - | Issued and circulated as debased coinage for economic or war conservation reasons. |
| 2. Semi-official coins - | Issued clandestinely as contemporary counterfeits by official mintmasters or mint workers either for their own gain or by official direction in order to augment funds or recoup a depleted treasury. |
| 3. Outright fraudulent coins - | Issued clandestinely by private counterfeiters only for personal gain. |

It appears more logical to accept the first two reasons and discount the third because through history many countries have issued debased coinage in times of economic and war necessity, i.e., England's Henry VIII debased his silver so that he was being referred to as Old Coppernose; and have you noticed your own current U.S. "fourrées" ("clad copper" coins issued since 1964)? Furthermore, the die workmanship found in fourrées appears to be of similar high quality as that found in regularly issued solid metal varieties of coins. The engraving art and diemaking skills required for such a level of quality would most likely have been fairly well limited to official moneyers, mint workers, and well known artisans of the area. Fraudulent counterfeiting by connivers would have been hard pressed if we consider the relatively large numbers of ancient fourrées which survive today. Punishments for counterfeiting, debasing, and clipping were then as always extremely harsh. In addition, any large profitable quantities of private counterfeits would have been extremely difficult for the conniver to dispose of in any significant numbers since most ancient merchants, bankers, etc. were normally suspicious of silver and gold coinage offered to them, and insisted on weighing and/or test cutting such coins to determine metallic acceptability during transactions. This leads us to the conclusion that regardless of the motives for issuance, fourrées were more or less generally accepted as coins of the realm, and probably circulated locally side by side with their solid metal counterparts.

The second general category of ancient plated coins as mentioned earlier concerns the "silver washed" antoniniani which are not controversial in issue since we know considerably more about their techniques in minting and these coins, practically without exception, were straightforward legal official issues of the later Roman emperors. The "silver wash" method of coating coins by silver/mercury amalgam deposit (electroplating is a modern mid 19th century development) was the culminating process evolving from the continuing debasement of Roman imperial silver coinage first by lowering successively the silver content of the denarius and the antoninianus, and finally eliminating all of the silver content from the antoninianus entirely. The result essentially was a copper/bronze coin of which most surviving specimens display varying degrees of erosion of the thin silver wash. In many examples time has eroded it completely, leaving what at first glance appears to be a regular copper/bronze coin with some surface patination. Those coins which are found retaining all or most of their original silver wash are naturally more

This fourrée has lost almost all of its silver covering and the badly scarred and pitted copper core which remains is barely identifiable.

The thinness of the silver wash deposited on these coins is evidenced by copper showing through at the highest relief points on the portrait of Gallienus (head band of radiate crown and just below his neck). The silver wash remains intact on all but the highest relief points because the coin illustrated has undergone very little wear and is very well preserved.

sought after and command higher prices.

In conclusion we may well reason that both varieties of ancient plated coins, the fourrée and the later "silver washed" antoniniani were issued for the same reasons — as necessity, economy, or shortages of precious metals dictated. They were most likely intended for local circulation and thus probably were readily accepted by the populace. Even though they represented the ultimate in monetary debasement, they were palatable to the using public, if for no other reason, because they were deliberately made to very closely resemble the solid silver coin issues to which the public had been accustomed. It is the author's opinion that these plated coins are an authentic part of ancient history and deserve a proper place in the collecting and consideration of ancient coins in general. In no way should they be ostracized and branded as "contemporary fakes" or relegated to limbo as undesirable numismatic items.

Fifth Summer Seminar Successful

About 125 eager-to-learn numismatists gathered in Colorado Springs July 8 for the fifth annual ANA Summer Seminar which ran through July 14. Classes offered included detection of altered or counterfeit coins, grading, coin photography, introduction to Ancients, and introduction to colonial and Early American coins.

The seminar classes were conducted in Colorado College classrooms and in ANA headquarters. Housing was available to the students in the college dormitories. But even though they lived on campus, ate in the cafeteria on campus, and studied on campus, the students didn't get bored. Variety in the form of field trips made the week interesting and memorable.

A visit to the historic gold camp of Cripple Creek, where mining operations are beginning again, gave the visitors a chance to see the very first steps in the production of gold. Another bus trip provided in the seminar package was the trip to the Denver Mint.

The courses were instructed by highly qualified and respected numismatists including Virgil Hancock in counterfeiting; Joel Malter in ancients; John Hunter, counterfeiting; Ken Bressett, colonial; and Harry Adams, photography (courtesy of Franklin Mint).

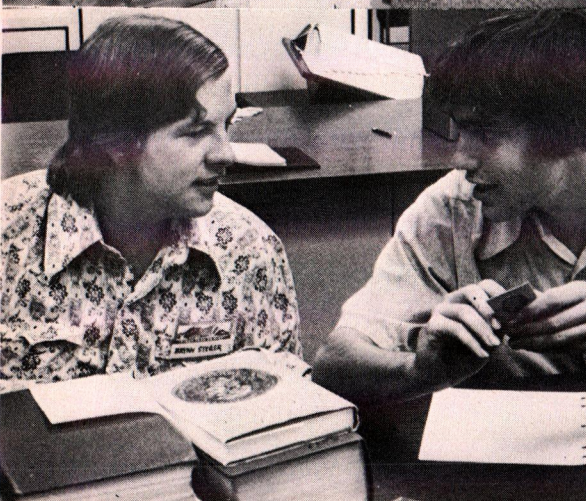

Howard Johnson of the United States Mint Laboratory, Washington, D.C., was on hand for his second seminar appearance to lecture to the combined classes.

Plans already are underway for the 1974 ANA Summer Seminar. Tentatively scheduled for July 7-13, the cost will be $139.50, which includes room and board in college facilities, two field trips, a college activity ticket, and the cost of the course.

Persons interested in learning more about the 1974 seminar plans may write to the American Numismatic Association, P.O. Box 2366, Colorado Springs, Colo. 80901.

FEATURING FAKES

That there ever was an "Irish pistole" . . . a gold coin as pictured above, actual size . . . you couldn't have proved it by me!

When I first saw the above piece, and was told its name, I went to Friedberg's "Gold Book" and found it listed as Ireland's only gold coin, Fbg. 1, described, "English Kings of — Charles I, 1626-1649. 1 Pistole ND...Rare (no price). Weight 4 dwt, 7 gr. both sides. Inchiquin Money."

That didn't tell me much, for it left unanswered who or what or where was "Inchiquin" and thus to the Encyclopedia Britannica. There I read that a lad named Murrough O'Brien was the sixth baron of Inchiquin, later raised to an earl by Charles II, and sometime around 1646 he was named either president or vice-president of the County Munster in southwest Ireland.

Now, thanks to Mr. Michael Dolley, Vice President of the Royal Irish Academy, I learn that Friedberg erred and that, while there really was a gold pistole, it was not a product of Inchiquin. It'd not be cricket to mention other interesting facts about the Irish pistole . . . and the double-pistole . . . prior to publication of a definitive paper on those two coins, now being prepared by Mr. W. A. Seaby of the Ulster Museum and Mr. Gerard Brady of Dublin.

The gold job you see above, though, is NOT a genuine piece!

As extremely rare as is a genuine Irish pistole, suspicion arose when ten or eleven of these fakes showed up in the hands of a Southern Californian who seemingly now is in seclusion, possibly to avoid lead poisoning.

Gold, yes, but they never saw Ireland! More likely, coined within the past three years in "That California Mint."

The guy who peddles the fake you see at the bottom of opposite page is more cagey than the lad who suddenly burst upon the market with nearly a dozen specimens of that super-rare Irish gold pistole.

Only about once a year, and only at some big coin show, doeshe pop up with one of these silver cast counterfeit "One Warn" Korean pieces dated 495th year of the Kae-kuk dynasty (1896 AD). Jacobs-Vermeule lists it as No. AA-101, but not in silver.

Usually this sharpie rather secretively displays his "gem" in a fairly dim corner of the lobby or down some corridor. Very hush-hush! But don't buy!

You see, above, the next interesting concoction.

Ignore the coin . . . It's a genuine Brazilian 1820 silver 320 reis of the Rio de Janeiro mint . . . but do study the enlargement of that coin's countermark.

This faked double-struck c/m shows a "Liberty Cap" radiant, "1835" above, and "PIRATINI" around the lower border.

It seems that, under President Alvares Machado, there really was a genuine c/m used as a legitimate issue of the "Republic of Piratini" (from Sao Paulo's original name when it was founded in 1554AD as an Indian village named "Piratininga") of Rio Grande do Sul, which lasted ten years, 1835-1845AD.

Ninety years later a jeweler in Brasil's Sao Paulo is supposed to have made this c/m concoction, and stamped an assortment of coins, even gold.

Kurt Prober writes, "E grande a quantidade de carimba falsos!"

Yet many a trusting dealer has bought and sold coins bearing this concocted countermark.

The woods are full of counterfeit c/m's, so, puh-leeze, unless you really know the coin, don't buy! Or insist on an ANACS registered certificate!

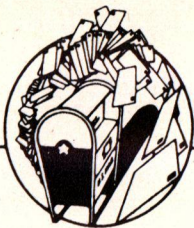

The piece at the bottom of this page never pretended to be a coin.

It's just a cast silver novelty piece. Many variations have been made, presumably by silversmiths in India, but that's hearsay. I don't know.

Again, know what your're buying, or don't buy it.

Better yet, insist on an ANACS certificate with the coin you buy!

The Census Debate Goes On

I have just read, and cannot let pass without comment, Mr. Herbert J. Friedman's remarks in the May, 1973 issue of The Numismatist concerning "An Estimated Census of the Barber Coinage." I will attempt to reply to Mr. Friedman's letter point by point below, but I would first like to suggest that perhaps he and I are enmeshed in semantics rather than principles.

I believe Mr. Friedman will agree that the real scarcity of any coin is determined solely by its actual population and is completely independent of its mintage. If this situation is true, it is then obvious that all specimens having a population of 100 have equal scarcity whether the mintage be 100 or 100 million. I will admit that it would be unusual (and statistically practically impossible) for either of the foregoing examples to occur but the fact remains that scarcity is simply a term which attempts to describe the magnitude of the population of specimens which are available for collection.

If Mr. Friedman can agree with the foregoing statements regarding the meaning of scarcity, then perhaps it will be somewhat easier to resolve our differences of opinion.

As indicated in the November 1972 article and the March 1973 reply to Mr. Friedman's criticism appearing in January 1973, Scarcity Factor was devised as an attempt to measure in terms of the best factual information available the relative scarcity (as defined above) of all dates in the various Barber series and from these measurements to estimate the probable populations of these dates. This approach became necessary because, while in the case of certain coinages, like large cents in particular, an enormous amount of investigation into actual ownership and recorded sales of these coins by Newcomb and Sheldon established very accurate figures for their populations, especially the rarer dates and types, an actual census did not seem possible for Barber (or other) coinages where a much larger number of coins was minted.

With all of the above as background, I will now try to cover Mr. Friedman's comments as follows:

1. I did not dodge the issue raised in his January 1973 comments. His calculations using the formula for Scarcity Factor were perfectly correct; however, his premise that a coin with 100 appearances at auction from a mintage of 10 million should have a higher Scarcity Factor and therefore greater scarcity (as that term is defined above) than one with 100 appearances from a mintage of 100,000 is erroneous. The January calculations indicate in Column X that the Scarcity Factor for 100 appearances at auction from a mintage of 100,000 is 100 and would be 1 from a mintage of 10,000,000. All this means is that by definition of Scarcity Factor, the actual population of a coin having a Scarcity Factor of 100 should be less than the population of a coin having a Scarcity Factor of 1 and therefore in accordance with the definition of scarcity, the coin with the higher Scarcity Factor is the scarcer of the two and not the converse as Mr. Friedman asserts.

I note Mr. Friedman agrees with my major premises for estimating probable populations, i.e., the lower the mintage, the lower the probable population and the fewer the appearances at auction, the lower the probable population. I think he could hardly disagree with the selection of a Scarcity Factor representing these influences which would have larger values for smaller populations and vice versa. On the foregoing basis, the mathematics involved seems elementary, and is stated as simply as possible below (even though it probably properly belongs in one of the mathematical society journals rather than the pages of the Numismatist): -

$$\text{Mintage Scarcity Factor} = F_m \propto \frac{1}{\text{Mintage}}$$

$$\text{Auction Frequency Scarcity Factor} = F_a \propto \frac{1}{\text{Auction Frequency}}$$

$$\text{Overall Scarcity Factor} = F \propto \frac{1}{\text{Mintage} \times \text{Auction Frequency}}$$ and therefore

$$F = \frac{K \text{ (any chosen constant)}}{\text{Mintage} \times \text{Auction Frequency}}$$

I will admit that there might be other influences which could affect Scarcity Factors calculated as above, but I do not know what they might be. In the absence of any concrete suggestions, I think that the formula developed above certainly properly reflects the influence upon scarcity of the two major measureable properties applicable to any coin.

3. I will agree with Mr. Friedman that my sampling of his universe of coins might be poor but somewhat like the apocryphal dishonest poker game, which was the only one in town, auction catalogues were the only source available which would provide lists and reasonably reliable statements of condition of offerings of Barber coins. In this connection, I should add that of the 130 or so catalogues examined, only those listed in the November article contained offerings of uncirculated or proof Barber coins. I will also agree that it is possible that common date specimens might be underrepresented in the catalogue listings but I cannot see how this would affect dates which had already been established as common. After all, how much more than common can a common coin be? I cannot comprehend what effect underrepresentation of common coins would or should have upon the rarity status assigned to the scarcer dates. As stated above, the sampling may be poor, particularly with respect to common coins, but it is the only sample available.
4. Mr. Friedman states he feels that the sample taken is skewed (I think he means biased) toward higher priced coins and I think he may be correct but only because higher priced coins generally are scarcer than those carrying a lower price tag. However, one should not forget that the primary purpose of the study was to determine which dates were common and which dates were scarce and of the scarcer groups, which dates and the greater probable scarcity. The evaluation of scarcity and the estimation of probable populations were, as stated in the November article, made without regard to price or value data. It should once again be re-emphasized that insofar as the study was concerned, once a coin was estimated to have a population of more than 640, it was considered to have achieved common status and no attempt was made further to delineate the degree of commonness.

5. I thought that the reason why I quote Messrs. Bowers and Merkin was obvious. The examples enumerated in the March letter stated that by my assigned rarity ratings, the 1896-S dime and the 1914 half dollar should be scarcest (i.e., have the lowest populations) whereas by Mr. Friedman's contentions, the 1904 dime and the 1899 half dollar should be the scarcest. If it can be assumed that Messrs. Bowers and Merkin know what they were talking about (and I do not think they would enjoy the reputations they have if they did not), then their catalogue statements concerning these two coins would tend to establish that my ratings of the scarcity of these coins were considerably more correct than those which would be arrived at by using Mr. Friedman's reasoning. In this connection, I think I should also point out that reputable numismatic experts may sometimes overstate condition (which is after all pretty subjective) but very seldom, if at all, overstate rarity. Most of the professional numismatists I know have a phenomenal knowledge and memory of rare coins of all denominations and will, in cases where they feel their recollection may be faulty, consult their peers before committing themselves to statements regarding rarity which can be demonstrated to be faulty.

I do not think that Mr. Friedman has yet proved his case and I therefore do not feel that it is necessary or desirable to re-examine or alter the techniques used to develop the conclusions reached in the November 1972 article.

Very truly yours,
John H. Berger

And On

After seeing in manuscript Mr. John H. Berger's letter published above, I must continue to dislike his equation and his data.

Mr. Berger now appears to want to change his measure of scarcity from an interaction of mintage and appearance at auction to that of appearance at auction alone, but then he doesn't do it, because he reintroduces his equation.

I still cannot agree with his final equation because it does not behave the way he thinks it does. It does not measure scarcity as I understand the word.

If I interpret correctly what Mr. Berger now says about his sample and data, he admits that they could be improved if the information were available. I wish he would collect the information.

I don't recall that I made any statements about which coins are the scarcest. Only a good collection of data and a proper evaluation of that data could lead to specific conclusions about scarcity.

Thus, I do not feel that Mr. Berger has realized his aim of evaluating scarcity and estimating the size of probable populations.

Mr. Berger is certainly entitled to his opinion that auctioneers are knowledgeable, but the recent article, "The First Twenty-Eight Anno Domini Dated European Coins and Their Present Existence Worldwide" by David R. Cervin in the July, 1973 issue of The Numismatist implies otherwise. On pages 1142-3 Cervin states:

"Of the 28 coins known to have been struck between 1234 and 1424, four are no longer extant. When one examines the caliber of numismatic collections shown in Table 1, there is real doubt if any of the missing coins will ever be found. A more startling disclosure is that only 152 of these early dated coins are extant. They range from unique to a maximum of 17. Would anyone knowledgeable in mediaeval numismatics have ever guessed such startling low numbers? Not only are the world's foremost numismatists unacquainted with these very low numbers, but they sometimes reverse the degree of rarity of coins closely related on a time basis.

"This is not meant to be critical. It is just that the information presented herein has never been previously made available.

"Consider the following coins from recent auction catalogs:

YEAR	COUNTRY	RARITY SHOWN	EXTANT	SUGGESTED RARITY
1375	Aachen	RR	7	RRRR
1391	Schoonvorst	RR	8	RRRR
1404	Aachen	—	7	RRRR
1411	Aachen	—	12	RRR
1420	Aachen	—	17	RRR

"Note that only seven specimens of the 1404 Aachen are extant and the cataloger chose to assign a zero rarity rating. A more logical rating for a coin in the 10 and under class ought to be a peak RRRR. Also note that eight coins of the 1391 Schoonvorst exist, actually one more than 1404 Aachen, yet it is rated by the cataloger as RR whereas the 1404 Aachen has no degree or rarity at all. Again, no criticism is meant. The experts' best judgement has just not proved out . . . "

Auctioneers are human, and their observations of rarity can be in error.

At this point in time, I believe it is proper for me to bring my part of this discussion to a close. I hope a better mathematician than I among the readership will examine the data and equation and comment appropriately.

Sincerely yours,
Herbert J. Friedman

Bargain Days Gone . . . Almost

Almost monthly we hear in the various news media of people being convicted of selling counterfeit gold or other coins, of being charged with selling altered coins, or of actually doing the altering. But before these people get caught . . . and the wheels of justice turn slowly in many cases . . . they have probably defrauded literally hundreds and maybe even thousands of innocent people with their worthless trash.

Who do they deceive and how? Generally speaking, they fool people who are not members of the American Numismatic Association or a local coin club, and who are not familiar with the fact that counterfeits and altered specimens exist, even in quantity in their area. This information, when known by local dealers is usually relayed to the people in the area through the local coin clubs. In regard to distribution, fakes are often sold unknowingly by jewelers, pawn shops, and other part-time, and usually not very knowledgeable "fast buck" "coin dealers."

I am not saying there is not exception to this rule, as I happen to personally know of some highly respected jewelers and pawn brokers who are experts in coins also. Generally, however, this is not the case. In fact, in a personal survey that I have conducted over the last three years, I have found that many pawn brokers are knowledgeable about coins only to the extent that, for instance, they know that gold coins brought in to be pawned are "real gold." This ends their knowledge. They test the coins, weigh them, and find them to have proper gold value. Knowing this, they either loan money on the items or buy them outright. This is particularly true in the case of small gold coins such as ones and two-and-a-halves and threes which have considerably higher value than the gold value. Then, as mentioned before, they either buy the coins outright or loan money on them, and of course, when the loan is up, these coins are put into their showcases ready to be sold to unwitting individuals.

With the high price of gold now, I have found that many pawn brokers who in the past have bought or taken coins in, particularly gold, for a loan value, are now bringing them out and selling them. Also . . . many people hearing about the high value of gold coins, and not being knowledgeable any more than the pawn broker or jeweler, and many times much less, go tippy-toeing into the aforementioned types of stores and purchase these oftentimes phony gold coins. True, they may have, as most knowledgeable collectors and dealers know, coins that have the full equivalent of gold to the actual minted pieces, and in some cases even more. Nevertheless, they have become victims of, and indirectly promoters of, the traffic in illegal gold, counterfeit gold, etc.

The altered coins are much the same story, though for a different reason. A pawn broker or jeweler (and usually jewelers don't get involved much with the minor coins, such as the often counterfeited Lincoln cents and nickels, dimes, etc.) loans a very small amount of the value of the coins against a collection. Then he thinks he's made a real good deal and when the party doesn't pick up the collection, he thinks, well, now, "I've got a darn nice couple of collections of coins here that I can sell at way less than the average retail value and still make money on the deal." He proceeds to do just that and many times the collector is also a "half way" coin collector, not belonging to any coin club or our ANA, and so, not being very knowledgeable feels he has made a great buy. What happens . . .

Now in both cases of the gold coins or the minor coin collection . . . the parties might take them home and either wear them as jewelry or put them in a lock box in the case of the gold, and very likely put the minor coin collection, after looking at it once, away in a home safe or again in a lock box, where the items might not surface again for many years. In some cases they have probably even been saved and are still being saved to give to the kids. Thus, it is almost impossible to tell the amount of counterfeit gold or altered coins of all kinds which might have found their way into possession by a group who considers themselves "coin collector" but who really know little about collecting as a whole.

This is why, wearing my other hat as membership chairman, I feel it is extremely necessary that each and every one of us sign each and every person who we hear about being even remotely interested in coins, or numismatists, up as members of the American Numismatic Association. In the near future, when our new ANA directory comes out, it will enable a local coin club to find out the names of people in their areas who are not members of their club and hopefully, get them into the fold, and between the local coin club and our ANA, we might be able to prevent many people from getting "stuck."

In the meantime, you should caution your "half-way collector" friends about picking up "bargains" if they're not sure where they came from. I might add also that many stolen items find their way back into the coin collecting field by being "buried" through these part-time dealers. It will take a strong effort on the part of each and every one of us to try and cleanse the hobby, and an even stronger and more out-going effort on everyone's part to help "cleanse" and "police" local purveyors or no-goodniks. Remember . . . even after the Hobby Protection Bill is passed by Congress and becomes law, this method will be necessary to police local "over the counter" sales. Won't you help?

Sincerely,
Grover C. Criswell,
Chairman, Security Committee

Some Banknote History

THE STORY OF PAPER MONEY by Colin Narbeth and Yasha Beresiner, 1973. 112 pages. Illustrated. Arco Publishing Company, Inc., 219 Park Avenue South, New York, N.Y. 10003. $6.95.

This volume presents some of the history behind notenotes. Information in the book relates that although the earliest paper money was printed in China in 650 AD, it was not until the 17th and 18th centuries that hand-drawn and printed notes appeared in Europe and America.

Latin America's history is reflected in currency issues, as is the massive inflation in 20th century China, Russia and Germany. Many notes have special associations — the French Revolution, the Siege of Mafeking, and prison camp notes of World War II.

According to the volume, 90 per cent of the world's financial transactions are carried out with paper money. In spite of this fact, information in the work continues, the study of paper money issues has been neglected until very recently; coins of 1,000 years ago can be dated quite easily, whereas it is often difficult to date a note less than 50 years old.

Detailed Account

ENGLISH COINAGE 600-1900 by C. H. V. Sutherland, 1973. 232 pages. Illustrated. Rowman and Littlefield, 81 Adams Drive, Totowa, New Jersey 07512. $30.

In his preface, Dr. Sutherland says that, "Interest in coinage as a whole, whether from the point of view of history or of economics or of art, has grown substantially during the last generation or so . . . As a result of this there seems to be a need for a history of English coinage that lies somewhere between the present extremes of the more deeply specialized books and periodicals on the one hand, and the more popular publications on the other."

In this work, Dr. Sutherland provides an account of the English series from the earliest Anglo-Saxon period c. 600 down to c. 1900, backed by up-to-date numismatic scholarship and research; he combines this with a narrative style which allows the wider economic, political and artistic factors to be considered.

The book deals with each issue reign by reign and describes the design, weight and composition of the coins, the location of the mints and the broad political, economic and dynastic factors governing the quality and quantity of their output. The changing methods and influences in die engraving and the actual striking of coins are discussed, as is the role of the moneyers and mint masters responsible for the production of the coinage. Inscriptions and marks are examined and a full range of initial marks and issue marks will be found throughout the text.

The volume also includes a comprehensive bibliography and an index.

Revised and Enlarged

1974 STANDARD CATALOGUE OF CANADIAN COINS, TOKENS AND PAPER MONEY by J. E. Charlton, 183 pages. Illustrated. Charlton International Publishing, Inc., 299 Queen Street, West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 1Z9. $2.95.

The 22nd edition of this work was released during the Canadian Numismatic Association convention in Saskatoon, Sask., July 19-21. It has been revised and enlarged with special emphasis being placed on the paper money section. This work was done under the direction of James E. Charlton and Walter D. Allan, one of Canada's foremost experts in that field.

The 1974 publication provides coverage of Canadian money from 1670 to date, based on 25 years' experience and research by the author, his assistants, and other qualified numismatists.

Among the 15 features contained in the volume are: complete listing of all known merchants' scrip, card money, army bill, provincial treasury and municipal notes of all banks in alphabetical order plus value of each; recognized and popular varieties illustrated; standard grading of coins and paper money; complete Canada and Newfoundland listing with mintage figures; listings of pattern and essay coins of Canada, Maritimes and Newfoundland; listings of Canada and Newfoundland bank notes plus broken and defunct institutions.

New Red Book

GUIDE BOOK OF UNITED STATES COINS by R. S. Yeoman, 1974 edition. 256 pages. Illustrated. Western Publishing Company, Inc., Department M Sales, P.O. Box 700, Racine, Wisconsin 53401. $2.50. Include $1 for handling.

The 27th edition of the Red Book has incorporated some new photos, extra condition grade columns, and price revisions upward in almost every category. All choice and uncirculated coins show marked increases in price and many older dates show extraordinary increases. Colonial coins reached record price levels and obsolete U.S. one, two and three cent pieces followed suit. All minor denominations are up, with special emphasis on earlier pieces in choice condition. An extra fine column has been added to half dimes and quarters where necessary to bridge the widening gap between VF and Unc.

Morgan dollars, gold coins, and commemoratives are all up over last year's book, with no end in sight.

A special nine-page analysis section by R. S. Yeoman charts the progress of type coins for the last quarter century as recorded in the Red Books.

The volume is fully illustrated and lists every United States coin, all major varieties, and mintage records. Current values are given in up to six grades of condition. Historical information and collecting aids are given throughout. A condensed version of the Brown and Dunn grading system is adjacent to each coin series listing, enabling the collector to grade his coins with a minimum of trouble.

Portrait Coins

THE HELLENISTIC KINGDOMS by Norman Davis and Colin M. Kraay, 1973. 296 pages. Illustrated. Thames and Hudson Ltd, London. $22.

This volume presents the history of the kings and queens of the three centuries of the Hellenistic age inaugurated by Alexander the Great's invasion of the Persian Empire in 334 B.C. The stories are illustrated by coin portraits of the rulers and some of their names still linger in common memory — Ptolemy of Egypt, Perseus of Macedon, Seleucus Nicator and Antiochus Epiphanes of Syria, and Cleopatra, the last of the Ptolemies.

Most were of Macedonian descent, well featured and ruddy complexioned, but where the face was unimpressive it appeared so on the coin, "warts and all." Even Cleopatra looks on her coins the plain and heavy-featured woman that she was. These royal portrait coins are important contemporary documents of a period for which evidence is scarce. They are our only source for the physical appearance of most of the rulers of the time; and, apart from the usually stylized representations of Egyptian Pharaohs, they constitute the first series of portraits in human history.

From the titles and designs that the rulers selected for their coins, we are given a glimpse of their characters, policies and the guise in which they presented themselves to their subjects.

The book includes more than 200 illustrations and three maps.

Books Received

The inclusion of a book in this list does not preclude us from publishing a review at a later date. Far too many new books are received monthly to review immediately and we do not wish to deprive our members of the knowledge of their availability.

BRACTEATE

A bracteate is a coin originating in the twelfth century in the German states and was copied in other countries. It was primarily struck on very thin silver but does appear in gold and copper. They were struck only on one face with a relief die, giving the reverse a depressed design and the obverse a raised design. Religious figures and symbols, military personages, animals, birds and flowers appear on these fascinating coins. The two coins pictured are from the state of Thuringen. One of the best references on bracteates is an ANA reprint by John Lhotka entitled MEDIEVAL BRACTEATES and is available from the librarian for $1.50. This reprint contains a bibliography of other references. Good sources for identification are also the various foreign auction catalogs such as those of Adolph Hess.

THE BEST POSSIBLE PRICE for your coins will be yours with an American Auction Association sale. "What Others Say"

When we sold the Armand Champa Collection at public sale, Mr. Champa was so pleased with the results that he did something unprecedented in the annals of numismatic auctions: completely unsolicited by us he placed large advertisements in The Numismatist and other leading publications to thank us for our service:

"Thank you Dave Bowers and Jim Ruddy for the excellent handling of my coins through your American Auction Association. I was very well pleased with your wonderful descriptions of my coins, especially the patterns. The prices realized for my coins nearly doubled the offers I received from other dealers."

Recently another consignor, Dr. Bernard Bressler, of the Duke University Medical Center (Durham, North Carolina), wrote to say:

"I am most appreciative of your sending me the check and the results from your last auction. I am more than satisfied with the proceeds. I want to congratulate you on the beautiful catalogue and the beautiful results."

And, many similar unsolicited comments are in our files.

from
AND KURT

Many of you who during the years have come to Chicago from time to time, will recognize the faces of Ben and Kurt. We began business in 1933 during that great Chicago World's Fair.

We have done business with some of you for many many years. We have joshed with you, kidded you, purchased some of your duplicates, and even sold you some goodies. Now you wish you had bought more, when we offered it to you.

For a while we had an 1885 Trade Dollar, and an 1827 Quarter that none of you wanted to buy. We finally sold it to Charlie Green whom some of you remember.

Well, we left Chicago, and have moved down to Pompano Beach Florida. We are still doing the same thing — buying and selling, only on a more leisurely pace.

A few of you have visited our shop, which is tastefully fitted out in white French Provincial styling. We bought a few of the duplicates you had in your pocket. In fact, one friend sold us enough to pay for his entire vacation down here. Vacationing in south Florida in Winter, summer, spring or fall is getting to be "the thing."

If per chance, you should have in mind to sell some of your good duplicates, so that you can buy that new Cadillac and not have to take the money out of savings — well, Ben and Kurt are still buying.

Should it be that you have given thought to selling your entire collection outright for cash, we also are interested. Yours might be so substantial that we do not have enough money, but then, maybe we could get some from the U.S. Government or the First National Bank. We believe it would do you well to sell your holdings to some "old timers" who know good things, appreciate good things, and are willing to pay for good things.

Ben has been an ANA member for over 35 years, and Kurt for 25. P.N.G. member #8, plus a host of memberships in many leading organizations.

We are doing business under the name of Pompano Collector's Corner, and invite you to visit us. Maybe you cannot do that at this time, but you can drop a letter. Whether you wish to buy something, or sell something, or just "chit-chat" it would be nice to hear from you. You know that we will treat you right.

CHOICE — RARE COINS FROM A — MARK

RARITY AND QUALITY ARE THE KEY WORDS IN TODAY'S MARKET.

Listed below are a few examples of the vast inventory of rarities that A-MARK is pleased to offer.

When buying coins, quality should always be kept in mind. For the best possible resale value, quality is of prime concern to achieve a greater profit potential!

GRADING

Our grading is internationally known for its fairness and accuracy. We grade conservatively. We do not sell "processed" coins. Our advertised descriptions are complete and explicit in detail. If a coin is marred or has been cleaned, we say so. Conversely, if a coin is a gem, we designate it as such. Finally, to make sure that you, the customer, get exactly what you order, we allow a 7-day return privilege on every transaction.

ALL COINS ARE GUARANTEED TO BE GENUINE. The A-MARK warranty covers each and every coin we sell.

- 1793 Half Cent (VF-35, VF/XF) Gilbert-1, Cohen-3, R-3. Very pleasing example of this prime rarity. Well struck and centered. Completely free of defects. Most would call it XF+-r. Reasonably priced at only $1,695.00
- 1796 Half Cent (Choice AU-50) Gilbert-1, Cohen-2, R-5. This is a truly Choice example of the famous 96 with pole half cent. Fully AU with traces of original luster, no real signs of wear only the slightest friction keeps this from being an UNC coin. $13,600.00
- A coin of prime importance at $725.00
- 1836 Half Cent (Circulated Proof XF-40) Gilbert-1, An Original — not a restrike. Evenly worn and free of defects, a nice coin for this Proof only year $1,350.00
- 1857 3c Silver - Choice Proof. Slight golden toning, free of hairlines. A great opportunity to acquire one of the rare Type II 3c Silver in Proof $1,250.00

Has been cleaned, but came out very nice. Some original luster still shows, full eagle's eye and full separation of eagle's beak. Most would call it Choice AU. A BU recently brought $17,000; therefore, this truly Choice coin for the discriminating collector is easily worth ... $4,950.00

MAGNIFICENT 1893-S SILVER DOLLAR

Obv.

Rev.

The Premier Coin in the Morgan Dollar Series

This coin is mint state 65 to 70, or as near perfect as any silver dollar can be! If M.S.-70 means perfection, then this coin is as close to that as any San Francisco mint dollar of this date. Almost completely free of bag marks, fully struck with full brilliant luster.

In a recent Auction, (Dec., 1972), a M.S.-65, with some bagmarks brought $21,000. In a most recent private treaty sale, a Choice M.S.-65 to 70 coin similar to the coin described here for sale, brought $28,500. In a well-known rare price list, date July, 1973, there is a coin described as M.S.-70 priced at $40,000.

In view of the above prices, we feel that this coin is a real bargain at our asking price of $27,950.00

CHOICE And RARE 1895-O Dollar

1895-O Morgan Dollar. Full M.S.-65 (plus). A very Choice, nearly full struck with brilliant luster. Save for a couple of minor bag marks, this coin could be called a M.S.-70 coin for the date. A prize for any collection! $2,350.00

PROOFLIKE 1895-S DOLLAR

1895-S Morgan Dollar. A splendid full prooflike (Obverse & Reverse) M.S.-65 to 70 specimen of this very difficult coin in nice condition. Full strike, slight golden halo toning just beginning around the rim. Except for a few very minor bag marks, this would be a superb Gem M.S.-70 coin $2,575.00

1895-S Morgan Dollar. Another lightly toned M.S.-60, fully Uncirculated. Virtually no bag marks and fully struck. Most likely destined to be purchased by a dealer, cleaned and resold as a M.S.-65 plus at nearly double our asking price of $1,450.00

EXCEEDINGLY CHOICE 1903-S DOLLAR

1903-S Morgan Dollar. Very Choice M.S.-65 (plus). Virtually free of bag marks, nicely struck, and with brilliant luster. Most would call this a M.S.-70 coin for the date! Easily worth our asking price of $2,350.00

THE KEY TO THE PEACE DOLLAR SERIES

SUPERB 1934-S

1934-S Peace Dollar. As near M.S.-70 as this date can be. A truly Choice coin, nearly fully struck, brilliant luster and almost completely free of any marks whatsoever! A real prize at $1,050.00

1850 Double Eagle Pattern; Judd-126, in Silver - reeded edge. R-8. There are only two known specimens of this famous Lougaere obverse design. No date. Reverse - regular reverse design. Brilliant Proof! Missing in every famous collection. Judd's pattern guide book lists the coin at $7,500. This is a rare opportunity for the pattern collector to obtain this all but impossible to acquire pattern at a very reasonable price $6,750.00

CHOICE & RARE . . . NORRIS, GRIEG & NORRIS TERRITORIAL GOLD

1849 Norris, Grieg & Norris, California Territorial Gold. As choice as an uncirculated copy of this coin can be! Fully struck, well centered and with partial proof-like surfaces. No defects, save a minor mark left of eagle's left wing. Choice and well worth over $2,000. We ask only $1,750.00

Where Gilhousen was missing, we filled in with coins from the Dr. Ruby collection. Thus, we have practically a textbook of varieties.

Many of the following United States coins were painstakingly assembled by C. E. Gilhousen, a famous collector of the last century and the early nineteenth hundreds. He was a pioneer auto dealer, when horses and railroads were the modes of travel. As the car gained acceptance, and Mr. Gilhousen achieved affluence, he devoted more and more time and income to his preoccupation and hobby . . . coin collecting. His specialty was gold and silver coins. You might say he had the Midas touch, for by 1909 his fabulous collection was estimated to be worth in excess of $200,000.

Newspapers of that day extolled the merits and uniqueness of his collection and the L. A. Tribune called it "one of the finest private collections in the world." And well it should have been, for Mr. Gilhousen had acquired his first coin (a coin of Frederick the Great) in exchange for some marbles when he was but 12 years old. Thus, from post-Civil War days to the early nineteenth hundreds, he devotedly added to his holdings until he had over 2500 gold coins and nearly every United States silver coin.

His collection ultimately passed into the hands of another equally dedicated collector who meticulously and methodically added each new coin in choice condition. And so the collection grew and appreciated throughout the early decades of this century. Issue by issue . . . mint by mint, until now, when the combined efforts of several collectors representing over 100 years and tens of thousands of dollars are to be offered to the public in this unprecedented "SALE OF THE CENTURY."

ANNOUNCING A NATION-WIDE BUYING SERVICE

If you are seriously considering selling your collection, we need to buy it. During the past year, our retail sales have increased by over 70%. What does this mean? For us, it means the pleasure of serving you with our continued quality service, and lowest possible prices. For you, which is even more important, (because without you, we would not be here) it means the intrinsic satisfaction of securing another rare numismatic item.

However, in order to satisfy the ever growing numismatic fraternity, we are embarking upon a nation-wide buying service. You will notice that we have stated service. Why? Because it is this company's policy to treat you in the same fair and upright dealings when buying your coins as we use when selling ours. It is for these reasons that we feel our buying service will be something new and innovative for the entire numismatic fraternity.

Here is what our nation-wide buying service provides:

1. Instant cash (confidential, of course, if you wish).
2. Bank references available (contact Mr. Bill Whitsitt at Texas Bank & Trust, One Main Place, Dallas, Texas).
3. Call us collect at 214-748-4044 if you desire to sell a large collection, or you may ship your collection with invoice to Mike Follett Rare Coins, Plaza Level, One Main Place, Dallas, Texas, 75250. Within 24 to 48 hours, you will receive our generous offer by return mail.
Should you decide not to sell, we will return your coins immediately upon hearing from you. Of course, they will be fully insured and we will pay the postage. (During the past year, 82% of those who have sent us coins in this manner have sold their collection). Through this method you risk absolutely nothing.
4. We can be at your bank, home, or office anywhere in the USA within 24 hours of your call provided your collection warrants.
5. We will buy your entire collection, not just the choice material.
6. You will be selling to a coin retailer, not a middle man; therefore, you are assured to the highest possible price.
7. You will be selling to a company backed with 11 years' experience in buying and grading numismatic material. Your coins will be personally evaluated by Mr. Follett before purchase.
8. You will be negotiating with a company well received and respected throughout the numismatic world.

We are in particular need of the following numismatic items: All choice type material, early Bust dollars and Bust quarters in any grade, all key and semi-key coins with a wholesale value of $10 or more, scarce and rare dates in seated quarters or halves, and all USA and foreign gold both rare and common. Without assuming an air or ostentation, this company has marketed twelve coins with a retail value of over $5,000 each during the past year. As an indication of our high buy prices, we are paying above the 1973 Red Book Catalogue for the following items:

All BU Half Dimes From 1794-1837
All BU Dimes From 1796-1838
All BU Quarters From 1796-1838
All BU Halves From 1794-1840
All BU Bust Dollars 1794-1803
1834-1839 Quarter Eagle Gold BU
1854-S Quarter Eagle Gold BU

In closing, it is the goal and purpose of this numismatic enterprise to serve you — the Numismatist. For the thousands of you that have bought from us, we say thank you. For those of you who have sold to us in the past, we encourage you to continue. For those of you that we have yet to meet, we want to know you. Drop us a line and tell us what you have for sale. We feel that our nation-wide buying service will go further in meeting your individual needs than any other buying program offered today.

Thank you.

Dear Numismatists,

Those of you who have ordered from us even once know that we are not "high-pressure" company — we believe in letting the coins sell themselves. We have already discovered that for coins to sell themselves, only two things are necessary. First, we must obtain the choicest and/or rarest coins available; and second, we must grade strictly and give as realistic a description of each coin as is possible, including reference and pedigree information where applicable. We are so sure you'll be satisfied with any order you receive from us that we will pay your postage if you find it necessary to return even one coin. If you have specific wants, send us a list of them, and we will do our best to obtain what you need. We are interested in purchasing anything numismatic, whether one coin or an entire collection, whether valued at $500 or $500,000. If you haven't ordered from us before, ask those who have — or simply try an order and discover how much we want to make you a permanent client of The Numismatic Gallery.

UNCIRCULATED 1795 LETTERED EDGE CENT

Sheldon 75. Mint State 60, possibly better. Perfectly struck and absolutely free of defects, with a velvety brown surface. This coin was lot 6 in the Helfenstein Sael (1964) where it sold on the floor for $2300. Now, nine years later, it is a bargain at$ 3500

UNCIRCULATED 1811 LARGE CENT

Sheldon 287. Lovely combination of tan and a slightly darker brown, with much mint red adhering. Mint State 60+. Only about six known in mint state. Desirable as a type, a date, or a variety$ 3500

FINEST KNOWN 1840 N-6 LARGE CENT

This coin, fully MS70, is even more brilliant than the 70-coins of the 1850's that occasionally turn up. The head type of 1840 is extremely hard to find in truly choice condition. We have never seen such a superb 1840. This coin would be a bargain at any price$ 2500

1877 PROOF SHIELD NICKEL

The rarest date shield nickel — minted only in proof. Only a small fraction of those that have survived from the original issue of approximately 500 can possibly be this choice. Absolutely no hairlines$ 900

UNCIRCULATED 1870-S DIME

Mint State 65 with beautiful greyish toning. Fully struck. One of the rarest seated dimes, with only 50,000 minted. Taxay says "Extremely rare in uncirculated."$ 1800

UNCIRCULATED 1808/7 BUST HALF DOLLAR

Overton 101. Mint State 65, and the sharpest strike we have ever seen of the 1807-1808 head type. Fantastically brilliant, with traces of golden toning. Probably finest known $1500

The Numismatic Gallery

UNCIRCULATED 1878-CC HALF

An exceptionally brilliant and well struck example of a date which is very difficult to locate in choice condition. Taxay says, "Extremely rare in uncirculated." Really a pristine coin
.....$ 3000

1871 PATTERN SILVER DOLLAR

Judd 1146. Rarity 7, struck in silver. Very rare; probably only nine or ten exist in any state of preservation. This piece is a dazzling flawless proof with mottled auburn toning. It is certainly unexcelled and probably unequalled$ 1250

PROOFLIKE UNCIRCULATED 1893-O DOLLAR

This rare dollar (only 300,000 minted) is fully prooflike with the most gorgeous golden toning imaginable$ 1200

GEM 1934-S DOLLAR

The 1934-S is the most sought after and the rarest Peace Dollar in choice condition. This unbelievable coin is fully MS70 and well struck. Most of the so-called uncirculated 1934-S dollars we see are sliders. This is by far the choicest we have ever had the pleasure of owning$ 1000

GEM 1856-S DOUBLE EAGLE

A well struck satin jewel, nearly MS70, with essentially no bagmarks. In spite of misleadingly low prices in reference books, early S-mint Double Eagles almost never appear in this condition, and they set new price records every time they appear at auction$ 2000

1888 PROOF DOUBLE EAGLE

All proof gold pieces are rare and highly desired, but there is something magic about viewing, touching, owning a choice proof Double Eagle. Only 105 of this date were struck and we've never seen one of this choice. Only a few miniscule hairlines are present. A dazzling gem

CASH ADVANCE

THAT'S RIGHT ! ! ! ! We will advance a percentage of the fair retail value of your collection immediately upon receipt. Please send inventory first — do not send coins until you hear from us. We will then sell your collection at one of our forthcoming auction sales and you will receive your final settlement within 30 days after the sale. Our commission rates are always reasonable.

During the time that your coins are in our possession they are stored in our protected and insured vaults. When you receive your advance check, if for any reason you are not satisfied with the amount of the check, just return it and your coins will be returned postpaid.

In many cases our advance will be almost equal to others offer of outright purchase.

If you are not currently on our mailing list, just drop us a postcard with your full name and address and we will place your name on our catalogue mailing list.

REMEMBER — It is not too late to have your collection included in our next outstanding auction sale.

OUR SALES ARE USUALLY HELD IN THE PARKER HOUSE

We are always in need of desirable numismatic material and will be happy to travel anywhere in the world to acquire it — either for auction or for outright purchase provided the value of the material warrants it.

WESTERN NUMISMATICS /INTERNATIONAL GOLD

as of Aug. 1, 1973, have joined together to form a new rare coin company under an old name (the name under which we originally did business):

A - MARK COIN COMPANY

Facility-wise, staff-wise, inventory-wise, we are now one rare coin company instead of three. As one company, under one management, with one super stock of rare coins, and one super desire to serve the numismatic community, we are entering a new phase of growth and progress as the nation's most forward-looking dealers.

A - Mark Coin Company will handle both U.S. and foreign rare coins, both rare gold and rare silver (as well as nickel and copper.) It will buy and sell all categories of rare coins.

A second new company

has been formed to deal in silver bags and bulk quantities of gold coins. We have long felt that such trading should be a distinct and separate operation from dealing in rare coins, and the formation of Previous Metals will accomplish that purpose.

As part of its expanded service to customers, Precious Metals is inaugurating a plan for financing bulk gold coins and silver bags. We solicit inquiries.

In their new stream-lined posture, A - Mark Coin Company and Precious Metals, Inc. are committed anew to the A - Mark concept of TOTAL CUSTOMER SERVICE. It is this concept that has made possible our achievements of the past and will, we are confident, enable us to meet fully the challenges of the future.

THINKING OF SELLING?

Texas' leading coin company, Colonial Coins, is in great need of rare coins. Homes & estates in this area are less than 100 yrs. old, so finding old coins is virtually impossible. We are constantly forced to travel & advertise into the world market to supply our collectors. We are also expanding our offices to San Antonio, & we will have many new collectors to satisfy.

All our buyers are anxious for good coins (we just mailed a list to 100,000 collectors). We will pay near retail on immediate cash settlement.

— AREAS OF GREATEST INTEREST —

- (A) USA Gold- Rare date St. Gaudens, Liberty, & Territorial Gold, single pcs. or whole collections. We are interested in silver & copper coins, especially pre-1900 collections, & single coins. We meet, & surpass, all legitimate buy prices.
- (B) Foreign Coins - As the leading dealer in Latin American, & especially Mexican coins, we have many good customers who buy from us exclusively. Many of them do not read or speak English & rely on us for all their coins. We buy from dealers & collectors, both at retail prices. We also have serious customers for crowns, especially high grade, high value items.

— NEEDED IMMEDIATELY —

- (1) Nice collection of USA gold coins.
- (2) High grade USA type collection.
- (3) Large USA coin collection, including silver $.
- (4) Two fine Mexican collections (gold & silver) 1556 to date.
- (5) One crown collection, including Latin or European coinage.
- (6) Any treasure findings from A to Z.

DOCTOR'S INVESTMENT GROUP

Dr. George Vogt, Pres. of Colonial Coins, & advisor to the Doctor's Investment Group, is still making large investments in USA, and foreign gold in large lots. The group is also interested in rolls and bags of silver $, unusual rolls of silver & gold coins, i.e. Unc. "V" nickels by the roll, half dimes by the roll, & proof sets prior to 1940. Please write us about your holdings & please state prices desired, for the Group's decision.

HOW DO YOU SELL TO US?

- A. Pack up your coins & send them to us via registered mail. Our top offer, in the form of a check, will be returned to you by return mail. We guarantee satisfaction. This is a fast cash settlement for you. We are bonded; Dun & Bradstreet rated; & secured Via Memorial Bank. After obtaining our permission, you may send your coins to our bank.
- B. We also invite you to make an appointment with us for a cash settlement on the spot.
- C. We will travel to you if your collection is too large to ship, or if you live in a foreign country. We travel to Europe & South America, & the Orient. Advise us the size & major rarities of your collection.
- D. Large finder's fee to persons who locate & help us to purchase collections.

We have funds from $1,000 to $1,000,000.

A New Denomination Included in The 1973 India Proof Set

20 Rupee Silver Coin Issued For The First Time

The Government of India has announced that the 1973 India proof set, the fifth consecutive issue in India's proof set program, will contain the largest denomination silver coin ever issued by that country. The new 20 Rupee coin (equivalent to approximately $2.60 U.S.) measures a full 44 millimeters in diameter and, like all of India's coins, has a unique and distinctive design. The design is development oriented and has two wheat corn ears encircling a tablet that holds the inscription "Grow More Food". This same new design also replaces last year's 25th Anniversary of Independence theme that appeared on both the 10 Rupee and 50 paise coins.

The seven other coins in the set bear the same designs as last year and are characterized by interesting and unusual shapes. For example, two of the coins are square, two have scalloped edges and one of them, the 3 paise, is hexagonal! Few proof sets ever issued have such an intriguing combination of sizes, shapes and denominations as the 1973 India proof set.

Five Offerings

The collector of 1973 India proof coins has five distinct offerings from which to choose. First of all, the ten coin proof set that includes the new 20 Rupee coin is available for $25 while a nine coin set, without the 20 Rupee, is priced at only $15, the same price as for the first four years of issue.

Crown collectors may purchase either the 20 Rupee coin for $10 or the 10 Rupee coin for only $7.50. Additionally, these two large silver coins are available as a set for just $17.

Mid~September Deadline

All orders for 1973 India proof coins must be mailed no later than September 15, 1973. After all the orders are received, the India Government Mint in Bombay will then strike exactly as many sets and individual proof 20 Rupee and 10 Rupee coins as there are orders. No additional sets or coins will ever be minted, no matter how great the subsequent demand!

WANTED

America's best buyer of Rare coins urgently needs your collection!

As one of America's foremost Rare Coin firms the demands on our inventory are extensive, requiring us to purchase Choice and Rare Coins at an ever expanding rate.

We Want To Buy: Your entire collection is urgently needed no matter what the size, if it contains the items we are looking for. Generally we are interested in any collection which contains Choice and Rare coins and early U. S. coins in AU or better condition.

Individual Coins: We are sincerely interested in individual sets and single coins as well as complete collections. We are particularly interested in worthwhile numismatic items that retail over $10.00 each. Our needs range from Colonials thru Gold including rare dates as well as more common dates in Choice condition.

Selling to US: You will find that selling to our Rare Coin Galleries is easy and safe. Here is all you do — Package your coins carefully and send them to us by insured or registered mail. Immediately upon receipt of your coins David Bland, Jr., will personally examine your coins and send you our generous offer in the form of a confidential insured check. Upon receipt of our offer you can notify us of your decision to sell (nearly every one of the thousands of offers we have made over the past decade has been accepted). If for any reason you decide not to sell, your coins will be returned to you by insured mail at our expense. If your collection is too large to mail please send an itemized inventory to the attention of David Bland, Jr., and we will travel to you if the size of the collection warrants it.

You Will Receive More For Your Coins: Because our needs are so great at this time we will pay more than any other major dealer in the U. S. Why not sell to us as thousands of other satisfied collectors have.

For references you may apply to any numismatic publication or numismatic organization. We are members of: The American Numismatic Association (Mr. Bland is Life Member 677); Professional Numismatists Guild; Texas Numismatic Association; etc.

"The source of Wisdom in coin selecting"

SOUTH AFRICA CROWNS

We have been fortunate in acquiring a nice selection of the most desirable series of silver crowns on the market today. Aside from the 1892 issue, South African silver crowns start in 1947, so it is not hard to assemble a series, and keep it up-to-date. Also, the way the price of silver has been climbing, these coins are way underpriced right now, and should make an excellent investment.

We are in desperate need of Ancient Greek and Roman coin collections and nice singles, and we're prepared to pay extravagant prices to obtain them. If you haven't done business with us yet, please try us; you'll be pleasantly surprised. And, if you don't have anything to sell us now, send us your name to receive our free catalogue.

FRIENDS, ROMANS, COLLECTORS SELL ME YOUR COINS!

In conjunction with the expansion of our retail sales division, we are instituting a separate subsidiary which will be wholly devoted to making purchases for our various divisions.

Due to the enormous need generated by our full volume picture, we are placed in the position of having to buy at a constantly escalating rate. We pay so much more because we sell so much more! We can use a wide and varied assortment of numismatic items that most other dealers just don't have the facilities to handle. We want more than just a few choice items in your collection, we want and need everything, whether it is AG or PROOF, whether OBSOLETE or MODERN. If it's collectable, we want it! Complete collections any series, paper money and foreign coinage WANTED. Obviously it is impossible for us to list what we want, because we want almost everything and are willing to pay for it.

To those of you whose holdings are considerable, the above as well as the following should be of prime importance. As a matter of policy we maintain a cash position far and above any of our immediate or long range needs. Therefore we are in a position to handle your collection or accumulation immediately. It's always nice to know when you deal with the Old Roman Inc., you are dealing with principles only.

We now invite you to ship your coins directly to us for IMMEDIATE appraisal and disposition in the form of an airmail check to you which you may either accept or decline. Either ship your coins or write for our most generous offer.

If for any reason we can't come to terms, as always we pay return postage. If it's expeditious or advantageous to either of us, we will of course travel to negotiate the purchase and transfer of your holdings.

All matters are held in the strictest confidence.

HASTY SELLING VS. QUICK BORROWING

Selling your collection can be profitable if you have enough time to find the best prices. But a collection sold quickly is seldom sold profitably.

In any emergency, borrow the money you need at Edelman's. Use your collection as collateral and still retain complete ownership.

At Edelman's, you can obtain quick confidential loans for any amount up to 80% of the value of your properties — from $50 to $50,000 and more. Take as long as 30 months to pay with a repayment plan tailored to your specific needs. Your collection will be safely protected in Edelman's air-conditioned vaults until you reclaim it. Write today for further information.

SILVER BUY DIRECT & SAVE

For "solid" wealth many investors are turning to the "Letcher Eagle." It's ONE TROY OUNCE, PURE SILVER (.999). Each piece is larger than a dollar and certified as to weight and quality. Best of all, this form of silver can be purchased directly from The Letcher Mint at a cost only slightly higher than the New York spot price of silver on the day of purchase. For the first time, individuals as well as dealers can buy this convenient form of Pure Silver at reasonable bulk rates.

Price on a "per Troy Ounce" weight basis in bags, F.O.B. Mint at Lancaster, California:

1000 to 9999	at 75c over N.Y. spot
10,000 to 50,000	at 45c over N.Y. spot
over 50,000	at 27c over N.Y. spot

Shipment generally will be made in less than a week's time via Air Freight, Rail Express or armored car service.

DON'T SELL YOUR COINS

Until you have checked with us. Not only are we paying top prices but we are interested in buying complete collections and not just the key coins from your collection.

Our retail store and mail order business leave us with a constant need for all U.S. Material from Colonials to Silver Dollars. We are also buyers of rolls, Bulk Silver, and Franklin Mint material.

In addition to top prices we also are proud of the fast buying service we have available. We can be at your home or bank within 24 hours if your holdings warrant, or if you would, just mail your coins insured to us for our offer and fast check. We have purchased over 97% of all coins sent to us over the past 10 years.

No collection too large or too small to be of interest to us. All dealings are quick and confidential.

"AMERICAN (Military) INSIGNIA" 1906 by B. Belden-4 plates — New reprint, plus comprehensive list of prices I will pay (spot cash) for most of the items he lists and illustrates plus many others (almost 100 items wanted). Average prices $20.00 to $1,000.00. $2.00 postpaid.

Political Americana - A fascinating, fast-growing, and rewarding hobby. 25 different original presidential election buttons plus 10 pg. illus. catalog listing hundreds other older campaign buttons and tokens, etc. I have for sale

Illustrated Price List alone $5.00 postpaid
"COLLECTING PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN MEDALS" 1888 by G. Kobbe — New reprint with 50 woodcut illustrations $1.25 postpaid (First Class as is every other item listed on this page). 50c (refundable)

Always wanted: (Spot cash — no waiting months from auctions). Not afraid of quantity. Just tell me how many and how much or send sample; early presidential election tokens, medals, pre-FDR election buttons. For instance, will pay $15.00 each for any Hoover picture celluloid election button — at least $1.00 each for any Truman name button.

Also wanted: ribbons, badges, ballots (electoral tickets) — especially those with woodcuts — early election posters, broadsides, prints, paintings, (not only of winners but losers like Henry Clay and Douglas), official inaugural medals (not U.S. Mint). Also need glass rectangular brooches with scenes of log cabins, W.H. Harrison, Van Buren, Dog on Safe, or Temple of Liberty — these have pin backs. *Beware, fakes abound in all these items. Indian Peace Medals, Geo. III or Presidential originals only — in solid silver, not silver plated or bronze. Indian steel pipe trade tomahawks, originals only — dug-up ones O.K. No free appraisals. Describe fully; size, cond., scene. Price or send insured-air for cash offer. Also specialize in European, Medieval to 1800 coins in any metal. Ancient Greek coins VF or better or of finest style if in lesser condition. Just price and describe or send insured for cash offer.

Yes! We may be based a few miles away across the water but we're pretty mobile. In fact, our experts travel to America five or six times a year to visit clients and buy collections.

We deal in world coins — ancient, medieval and modern. Do you have coins for sale? Being on Europe's doorstep we have many continental contacts and can pay top prices for choice material. Before disposing of your coins too hastily, why not write to and let us know what you have?

We purchase coins for CASH. We sell coins on COMMISSION. We catalogue collections for AUCTION either in London or New York. We have a team of experts qualified to make the most of your coins. Drop us a line!

Bert Seaby, Peter Seaby, Lawrence Brown, Frank Purvey and others from the Seaby establishment will be travelling around the States this year. You may be on our route or persuade us to make a detour!

Send for a list of our numismatic publications and a copy of our monthly COIN & MEDAL BULLETIN. And if there are coins you are particularly wanting — let us know!

ENGLISH COINAGE 600-1900

by C.H.V. Sutherland

Truly the magnum opus of the most eminent living authority on the subject, Dr. Humphrey Sutherland of the Ashmolean Museum, Oxford. This handsome volume provides a detailed and comprehensive account of the English series from the earliest Anglo-Saxon period to c. 1900, backed by up-to-date numismatic scholarship and research.

Deals with each issue reign by reign. Describes in detail the design, weight and composition of the coins. Gives the location of the mints (a list of Anglo-Saxon mint - names appears as an appendix). Covers broad political, economic and dynastic factors governing the quality and quantity of their output. Discusses the changing methods and influences in die-engraving and the actual striking of coins. Investigates the role of the moneyers and mint-masters responsible for the production of the coinage.

Inscriptions and marks are fully examined and throughout the text will be found a very full range of initial-marks and issue-marks so often indispensable for the recognition and classification of English coinage.

232 pp. of readable text; 108 pp. of plates (more than 800 individual coins shown); bibliography; 16-page index. $30.00

SWISS 1896 COINS WANTED

I need all the Swiss copper & silver coins dated 1896 (except the 20-Rappen) to finish my personal date collection. These coins are VERY RARE. Also, VERY VALUABLE. I'm not looking for a bargain. I'm prepared to pay very well for any singles you might have, or I'd be especially delighted to buy a nice set. I'd even pay a finder's fee to anyone who locates a set that I can buy. May I hear from you? Thanks.
